

CONTENTS

---

Introduction .....	5
1. Shakespeare, the man .....	7
1.1. Shakespeare's life .....	7
1.2. Sources of information on Shakespeare's life .....	11
2. Shakespeare's works and their chronology .....	12
2.1. Poems .....	12
2.2. Plays .....	14
2.2.1. Comedies .....	14
2.2.2. Chronicle plays .....	17
2.2.3. Tragedies .....	18
2.3. The chronology of Shakespeare's works .....	23
3. The Elizabethan theatre .....	25
3.1. Elizabethan London, its people and audiences .....	25
3.2. Capacity and prices of Elizabethan public theatres .....	26
3.3. The Elizabethan public playhouse .....	27
3.4. The origins of the Elizabethan stage .....	30
4. From manuscript to performance of a play .....	33
4.1. Revision and collaboration .....	33
4.2. Foul papers and fair copies .....	33
4.3. Author's copyright .....	34
4.4. A book-keeper's different functions and the prompt-book .....	34
4.5. Copyist, author and the prompt-book .....	34
4.6. Plot and actors' parts .....	35
4.7. The Master of the Revels and the Revels Office .....	35
4.8. Lord Chamberlain and Privy Council .....	35
5. From performance to printing of a play .....	37
5.1. Publisher's copyright and the Stationers' Company .....	37
5.2. Pirated editions – the bad Quartos .....	37
5.3. Quarto and folio formats .....	38
5.4. The good Quartos .....	38
5.5. Some editions of Shakespeare's plays .....	39
5.5.1. The Folio editions .....	39
5.5.2. A few important later editions .....	42
6. The Elizabethan Age .....	45
6.1. The Italian Renaissance .....	45
6.2. The Renaissance in England .....	47
6.3. The Elizabethan view of the world .....	51
6.3.1. Some general concepts .....	51
6.3.2. Structure and composition of the Elizabethan universe .....	52

Contents

---

6.3.3.	Nature, creation and man . . . . .	54
6.3.4.	The optimistic and the pessimistic view of man . . . . .	56
6.3.5.	Superstition . . . . .	59
Students' Exercises	. . . . .	61
Acknowledgements	. . . . .	64