

Contents

Foreword— Arthur J. Mahon	v
Preface	vii
Contributors	xi
1 Redefining the Mission of the Medical School	1
Kerr L. White and Julia E. Connelly
 Discussion: David S. Greer, John D. Hamilton, and David A. Shaw
2 The Social Contract and the Medical School's Responsibilities ..	23
Thomas S. Inui
 Discussion: David Axelrod, Sir Christopher Booth, and Ian R. McWhinney
3 Measuring the Burden of Illness in General Populations	60
Michael G. Marmot and Anthony B. Zwi
 Discussion: Sir Douglas Black, Robert A. Spasoff, and Thomas S. Inui
4 The Potential and Organization of Health Intelligence Units	113
Victor R. Neufeld and Robert A. Spasoff
 Discussion: Lord Butterfield, Harry S. Jonas, and Lionel E. McLeod
5 Population-Based Medicine: A Case Study from a Traditional School	132
Mutya San Agustin

Discussion: Sir David Innes Williams, Arthur Kaufman, and Mamoru Watanabe

6 A Community and Population-Oriented Medical School:
Newcastle, Australia 164
John D. Hamilton

Discussion: Harvey Barkun, George I. Lythcott, and David H.H. Metcalfe

7 Essential Institutional Competencies for Population-Based Education 208
David H.H. Metcalfe

Discussion: Roger J. Bulger, Victor R. Neufeld, and Peter Richards

8 Essential Population-Based Competencies for Undergraduate and Postgraduate Medical Students 234
Robert D. Cohen

Discussion: Jo Ivey Boufford, Paula L. Stillman, and John Wade

9 Balancing Perspectives 257
Kerr L. White and Julia E. Connelly

Conference Participants 267
Index 271