

Contents

|                        |    |
|------------------------|----|
| Preface         | ix |
| The Figure in the Cave | 1  |

I

|   |    |
|---|----|
| 1 Tyrone: The Rough Field                   | 23 |
| 2 The War Years in Ulster                   | 27 |
| 3 The Unpartitioned Intellect               | 36 |
| 4 Notes and Introductions                   | 42 |
| i A Primal Gaeltacht                        | 42 |
| ii I Also Had Music                         | 45 |
| iii A Note on Rhythm                        | 48 |
| iv Tides                                    | 49 |
| v On Translating Irish, Without Speaking It | 50 |
| vi A Slow Dance                             | 52 |
| vii Poisoned Lands                          | 53 |
| viii The Rough Field                        | 55 |
| ix The Dead Kingdom                         | 56 |

II

|  |     |
|--|-----|
| 5 Oliver Goldsmith: The Sentimental Prophecy | 61  |
| 6 William Carleton: The Fiery Gift           | 78  |
| 7 George Moore: The Tyranny of Memory        | 86  |
| 8 James Joyce: Work Your Progress            | 98  |
| 9 Samuel Beckett: Spoiled Hermit             | 104 |
| 10 In the Irish Grain                        | 109 |
| 11 Louis MacNeice: Despair and Delight       | 127 |
| 12 Kinsella's Clarke                         | 133 |

|    |   |     |
|----|---|-----|
| 13 | Patrick Kavanagh: A Speech from the Dock              | 136 |
| 14 | John Hewitt: Regionalism into Reconciliation          | 147 |
| 15 | Hugh MacDiarmid: The Seamless Garment andthe Muse | 154 |

III

|    |   |     |
|----|---|-----|
| 16 | The Young Irish Writer and The Bell                    | 167 |
| 17 | Fellow Travelling with America                                | 174 |
| 18 | American Pegasus  | 188 |
| 19 | John Berryman: Henry in Dublin                                | 200 |
| 20 | The Impact of International Modern Poetryon Irish Writing | 208 |
|    | Biographical Notes                                     | 221 |
|    | Acknowledgments  | 227 |