

Table of contents

List of Abbreviations	vii
Acknowledgments	ix
1. Introduction: The dynamics of community in South Africa	1
2. A theoretical intersection of political trust, institutions, and actors	24
3. Evolution of the local governance in South Africa: The triumph or failure of participatory governance?	56
4. Schools and roads as bargaining power in community protests in predominantly black communities	86
5. Ratepayers' associations and the "cheque book" protests in predominantly white communities	124
6. Conclusions: The implications and future of community protests in South Africa and beyond	144
References	157
Index	181