

Contents

---

List of Illustrations ix

Acknowledgments xi

Introduction: *Postcolonial Theory and Herder's
Anti-Imperialism* 3

1 From Epistemology to Aesthetics 23

2 From Organic Life to the Politics of Interpretation 60

3 From Human Restlessness to the Politics of Difference 95

4 From the Location of Language to the Multiplicity of Reason 135

5 From Human Diversity to the Politics of Natural Development 191

6 The Aesthetics of Revolution and the Critique of Imperialism 246

Conclusion: Herder, Postcolonialism, and the Antinomy
of Universal Reason 297

Notes 313

Works Cited 371

Index 389