

Contents

Preface, ix

Introduction: An Entangled History, 1

1. Pestalozzi, Fröbel, and the Origins of the Kindergarten, 10
2. Growth and Transplantation: The Kindergarten in Germany and America, 1848–1870s, 33
3. The Kindergarten in the City and the World, 59
4. Who Is the Child? Science and Pedagogy, 87
5. School or Day-Nursery? Patterns of Institutionalization, 118
6. “The Perfect Development of Womanliness”: The Making of a Kindergartner, 137
7. The German-American Relationship and Its End, 1880s–1920s, 161

Conclusion: An Unfinished Agenda, 185