

2784-0133

Horst Zander

Fact – Fiction – “Faction”

A Study of Black South African Literature in English

Gunter Narr Verlag Tübingen

Contents

Introduction	1
I: Approaches	9
1. Black South African Writing in Research	11
1.1. Delimiting Black South African Literature in English	12
1.2. The Politicization of Black South African Literature	22
1.2.1. Commonwealth and African Approaches	22
1.2.2. The Current Debate on Decolonization	27
1.2.3. "South African" Approaches	34
2. Fictional and Factual Discourse in Western Aesthetics	45
2.1. The Emergence of Western Aesthetics	46
2.2. The Debate on Fictionality	54
2.3. Contemporary "Segregationist" Conceptions	56
2.4. Marxist Views	67
2.5. Deconstruction	71
2.6. The Approach of the Present Study	74
II: Historical Survey	105
3. Black Literature in the South African Context	107
3.1. A Short History of Black Writing	111
3.1.1. Early Black Writing	111
3.1.2. Black Writing, 1900–1930	119
3.1.3. The 1930s and 1940s	127
3.1.4. The Drum Era	131
3.1.5. The Rift in Black Writing in the 1960s	138

3.1.6.	Black Consciousness and After	145
3.2.	The Revival of Oral Literature	155
4.	African Literary Orientations	163
4.1.	Aspects of African Traditions and Literature	164
4.2.	Characteristic Features of African Oral Literature	171
4.3.	Black Aesthetics	185
III: Textual Analysis		197
5.	Factual Discourse	199
5.1.	The Scope of Journalistic Writing	200
5.2.	Politics in Early Obituaries	202
5.3.	Politics in Travelogues	209
5.4.	Rhetoric in Journalism	217
5.5.	Fictional Features in Journalism	222
5.5.1.	Recurrence to Fictional Discourse	223
5.5.2.	Fictional Sections in Factual Texts	234
5.6.	Fictionalized Factual Texts vs. Fictional Texts	243
5.7.	Fictional Features in Columns	265
6.	Fictional Discourse	280
6.1.	Shorter vs. Longer Fictional Texts	282
6.2.	Black South African Realism	285
6.3.	Fictional Modes with Factual Tendencies	290
6.3.1.	Didactic Writing	291
6.3.2.	Historical Writing	306
6.3.3.	Writing on Contemporary History	329
6.4.	Further Factual Features in Fiction	343
6.4.1.	Autobiographical Traits	343
6.4.2.	The Narrating "I"	348
6.4.3.	Recurrence to Factual Discourse	359
6.4.4.	Intensifying Realism	365
6.4.5.	Curtailed Fictionality	375

6.5.	Fusing Fictional and Factual Texts	387
7.	“Factional” Discourse	403
7.1.	“Factional” Texts by R.R.R. Dhlomo	407
7.2.	“Factional” Texts by Peter Abrahams	412
7.3.	“Factional” Writing by Can Themba	424
7.4.	Further Examples of “Factional” Texts	433
7.5.	Autobiographies as “Factional” Texts	444
7.6.	“Factional” Writing by Mbulelo Mzamane	471
7.7.	“Proemdras” as “Factional” Texts	487
	Conclusion	503
	Bibliography	507
	Index	541