

IEE HISTORY OF TECHNOLOGY SERIES 32

Series Editors: Dr B. Bowers
Dr C. Hempstead

Communications: An International History of the Formative Years

Contents

Acknowledgements	vii
Preface	ix
Abbreviations	xi
1 Communication among the ancients	1
2 Semaphore signalling	29
3 The development of electric telegraphy from c. 1750–1850	57
4 Electric telegraphy – commercial and social considerations	93
5 Submarine telegraphy	125
6 The telephone	165
7 Optical communications	191
8 Images by wire, picture telegraphy (1843–c. 1900)	207
9 Distant vision (c. 1880–1908)	227
10 The early wireless pioneers	253
11 Early experimental wireless telegraphy (1895–1898)	281
12 Other wireless developments	313
13 Maritime wireless telegraphy	343
14 Point-to-point communications	373
15 Television development, pre-1914	387
16 The Great War years, 1914–1918	401
17 The birth of sound broadcasting	423
18 Some important developments in the 1920s	451
19 The rise and fall of low definition television, c. 1920–c. 1930	479

20	The birth of high definition television	511
21	EMI and high definition television	541
22	The emergence of new technologies	575
23	Epilogue	603
	Appendices	613
	Bibliography	625
	Index	629