

Contents

List of Illustrations, vii

Acknowledgments, ix

John N. Swift and Joseph R. Uργο

Introduction: Literate Tourism and Cather's Southwest, 1

1. ON MESA VERDE

John N. Swift

Unwrapping the Mummy: Cather's Mother Eve and the Business of Desire, 13

Ann Fisher-Wirth

Anasazi Cannibalism: Eating Eden, 22

Matthias Schubnell

From Mesa Verde to Germany: The Appropriation of Indian Artifacts as Part of Willa Cather's Cultural Critique in The Professor's House, 31

Marilee Lindemann

Fear of a Queer Mesa?: Faith, Friendship, and National Sexuality in "Tom Outland's Story," 43

John J. Murphy

Holy Cities, Poor Savages, and the Science Culture: Positioning The Professor's House, 55

2. THE PROFESSOR'S HOUSE

Richard H. Millington

The Experience of Meaning in The Professor's House, 71

Merrill Maguire Skaggs

Cather and the Father of History, 80

Tom Quirk

Twain and Cather, Once Again, 89

3. DEATH COMES FOR THE ARCHBISHOP

Mary Chinery

Willa Cather and the Santos Tradition in Death Comes for the Archbishop, 97

Christopher Schedler

Writing Culture: Willa Cather's Southwest, 108

Manuel Broncano

Landscapes of the Magical: Cather's and Anaya's Explorations of the Southwest, 124

Joseph R. Urgo

Multiculturalism as Nostalgia in Cather, Faulkner, and U.S. Culture, 136

David Harrell

Afterword: From The Professor's House to the Roundhouse—and Beyond, 150

Works Cited, 155

Contributors, 163

Index, 167