

Studies in Medievalism

Editorial Note	Tom Shippey	1
Long-lost Letters: Francisque Michel's Contribution to the Invention of French Medieval Literary Studies	Mark Burde	5
A Lot of Learning is a Dang'rous Thing: The Ruthwell Cross Runes and their Icelandic Interpreters	Magnús Fjalldal	30
Joast Halbertsma, Jacob Grimm, and Count Carlo Ottavio Castiglioni: Nineteenth-Century Sensitivities concerning a Gothic Bible Translation	Alpita de Jong	51
Imagining Medieval Music: a Short History	Annette Kreuziger-Herr	81
The Medievalism of Carl Maria von Weber's Euryanthe	Nils Holger Petersen	110
"Those effigies which belonged to the English Nation": Antiquarianism, Nationalism, and Charles Alfred Stothard's Monumental Effigies of Great Britain	Rachel Dressler	143
Commedia Images in the Neo-Gothic Age(s)	Karl Fugelso	175
Harriet Monroe as Queen-Critic of Chaucer and Langland (viz. Ezra Pound)	William Quinn	200
Zoë Oldenbourg, the Albigensian Crusade, and Terrorist Repression	Peter Christensen	217
Notes on Contributors		241