
Contents

Acknowledgments	ix
1 Introduction	1
Introduction: The Macroeconomics of Fiscal Policy	3
Richard W. Kopcke
Geoffrey M. B. Tootell
Robert K. Triest
2 Can Fiscal Policy Improve Macro Stabilization?	23
The Case Against the Case Against Discretionary Fiscal Policy	25
Alan S. Blinder
Comments on Blinder's "The Case Against the Case Against Discretionary Fiscal Policy"	63
Olivier J. Blanchard
Comments on Blinder's "The Case Against the Case Against Discretionary Fiscal Policy"	69
Christopher A. Sims
3 American Fiscal Policy in the Post-War Era: An Interpretive History	75
American Fiscal Policy in the Post-War Era: An Interpretive History	77
Alan J. Auerbach
Comments on Auerbach's "American Fiscal Policy in the Post-War Era: An Interpretive History"	101
James S. Duesenberry

Comments on Auerbach's "American Fiscal Policy in the Post-War Era: An Interpretive History"	107
Douglas W. Elmendorf
4 Fiscal Policy in the Reagan Administration's First Term	117
Fiscal Policy from Kennedy to Reagan to G.W. Bush	119
C. Eugene Steuerle
Economic Policy in the First Reagan Administration: The Conflict Between Tax Reform and Countercyclical Management	143
W. Elliot Brownlee
Reflections on Congressional Fiscal Policy in the 1980s	175
Van Doom Ooms
Fiscal Policy During President Reagan's First Term	195
Rudolph G. Penner
5 Government Finance in the Short and Long Run	205
Deficits and Debt in the Short and Long Run	207
Benjamin M. Friedman
Comments on Friedman's "Deficits and Debt in the Short and Long Run"	237
Susanto Basu
Comments on Friedman's "Deficits and Debt in the Short and Long Run"	243
Barry P. Bosworth
6 Is the United States Prone to "Overconsumption"?	249
Is the United States Prone to "Overconsumption"?	251
Jean-Philippe Cotis
Jonathan Coppel
Luiz de Mello
Comments on Cotis et al.'s "Is the United States Prone to 'Overconsumption'?"	287
Willem H. Buiter

7 The Twin Deficits - U.S. and International Perspectives	297
Budget and External Deficits: Not Twins but the Same Family Edwin M. Truman	299
Twin Deficits and Twin Decades Jeffrey A. Frankel	321
The Current Account and the Budget Deficit: A Disaggregated Perspective Catherine L. Mann	337
What Can We Do About the "Twin" Deficits? Alice M. Rivlin	349
Contributing Authors	355
Author Index	367
Subject Index	373