

Contents

Introduction

I	The colonial race	1
II	A new century, a new elan	19
III	Indiërs	45
IV	The threat from the north	73
V	The Dutch fleet	91
VI	August 1914	125
VII	Guarding strict neutrality	165
VIII	The European community in the Netherlands Indies	201
IX	Loyal subjects	231
X	A native militia	255
XI	The Turkish factor	287
XII	The German menace	317
XIII	The consequences of economic warfare	353
XIV	Adjusting to economic warfare	381
XV	The dangers of war and shipping	403
XVI	Gloomy prospects	427
XVII	Growing domestic unrest	453
XVIII	The end of Dutch international shipping and trade	487

XIX	Rice and sugar	515
XX	Restlessness	543
XXI	November 1918	579
XXII	Peace: Missed opportunities	613
	Bibliography	631
	General index	647
	Index of geographical names	659
	Index of personal names	669