

Faulkner and the Artist

FAULKNER AND YOKNAPATAWPHA, 1993

EDITED BY
DONALD M. KARTIGANER
AND
ANN J. ABADIE

UNIVERSITY PRESS OF MISSISSIPPI
JACKSON

Contents

Introduction DONALD M. KARTIGANER	ix
A Note on the Conference	xxv
A Historian Looks at Faulkner the Artist JOEL WILLIAMSON	3
William Faulkner and Robert Penn Warren as Literary Artists JOSEPH BLOTNER	22
Faulkner, Home, and the Ocean MICHEL GRESSET	41
Cracked Urns: Faulkner, Gender, and Art in the South SUSAN V. DONALDSON	51
The Scene of Writing and the Shape of Language for Faulkner When “Matisse and Picasso Yet Painted” PANTHEA REID	82
William Faulkner and the Meaning of Architecture: The Greek Revival of Yoknapatawpha THOMAS S. HINES	110
Recovering the Teller in the Tale: An Unfinished Project WESLEY MORRIS	141
“Paradoxical and Outrageous Discrepancy”: Transgression, Auto-Intertextuality, and Faulkner’s Yoknapatawpha MARTIN KREISWIRTH	161
Pylon , Joyce, and Faulkner’s Imagination MICHAEL ZEITLIN	181

The Signifying Eye: Faulkner's Artists and the Engendering of Art CANDACE WAID	208
The Complex Art of Justice: Lawyers and Lawmakers as Faulkner's Dubious Artist-Figures MICHAEL LAHEY	250
"Longer than Anything": Faulkner's "Grand Design" in Absalom, Absalom! ROBERT W. HAMBLIN	269
The Ephemeral Instant: William Faulkner and the Photographic Image THOMAS RANKIN	294
Uncle High Lonesome BARRY HANNAH	318
Whispers in the High Lonesome BARRY HANNAH	333
Contributors	339
Index	343