

MODERN AMERICAN SHORT STORY SEQUENCES

Composite Fictions and Fictive Communities

Edited by
J. GERALD KENNEDY
Louisiana State University

CAMBRIDGE
UNIVERSITY PRESS

Contents

Introduction: The American Short Story Sequence – Definitions and Implications	page vii
J. GERALD KENNEDY
Henry James's Incipient Poetics of the Short Story Sequence: The Finer Grain (1910)	1
RICHARD A. HOCKS
Toomer's Cane as Narrative Sequence	19
LINDA WAGNER-MARTIN
Hemingway's In Our Time : The Biography of a Book	35
MICHAEL REYNOLDS
Wright Writing Reading: Narrative Strategies in Uncle Tom's Children	52
JOHN LOWE
The African-American Voice in Faulkner's Go Down, Moses	76
JOHN CARLOS ROWE
Meditations on Nonpresence: Re-visioning the Short Story in Eudora Welty's The Wide Net	98
SUSAN V. DONALDSON
Nine Stories : J. D. Salinger's Linked Mysteries	114
RUTH PRIGOZY
Cheever's Shady Hill : A Suburban Sequence	133
SCOTT DONALDSON
John Updike's Olinger Stories : New Light Among the Shadows	151
ROBERT M. LUSCHER
Louise Erdrich's Love Medicine : Narrative Communities and the Short Story Sequence	170
HERTHA D. WONG
From Anderson's Winesburg to Carver's Cathedral : The Short Story Sequence and the Semblance of Community	194
J. GERALD KENNEDY
Index	217