

The Post-Colonial Detective

Edited by

Ed Christian

palgrave

Contents

Contributors	vii
1 Introducing the Post-Colonial Detective: Putting Marginality to Work Ed Christian	1
2 Keating's Inspector Ghote: Post-Colonial Detective? Meera Tamaya	17
3 James McClure's Mickey Zondi: The Partner of Apartheid Edward Tomarken	37
4 Upfield's Napoleon Bonaparte: Post-Colonial Detective Prototype as Cultural Mediator Marilyn Rye	55
5 A Crane Among Chickens: The Search for Place in William Marshall's Yellowthread Street Novels Deborah Bosi	73
6 The Savage Among Us: The Post-Colonial Detective in William Marshall's Manila Bay Novels Dean Loganbill	84
7 Post-Colonial Problems in the Canadian Detective Novels of Eric Wright and Howard Engel Patrick Quinn	98
8 The Post-Colonial Detective in People's China Jeffrey C. Kinkley	112
9 The Traditional Hero as Modern Detective: Huo Sang in Early Twentieth-Century Shanghai King-Fai Tam	140
10 Paco Ignacio Taibo II: Post-Colonialism and the Detective Story in Mexico Jorge Hernández Martín	159
11 The Spanish Detective as Cultural Other Jose F. Colmeiro	176

12	Driss Chraïbi's A Place in the Sun : The King, the Detective, the Banker, and Casablanca Roger Célestin	193
	Index	207