

The Representation of Business in English Literature

Introduced and edited by
Professor Arthur Pollard

Geoffrey Carnall
Professor Angus Easson
Dr John Morris
Professor Arthur Pollard
Dr Allan Simmons
Professor W.A. Speck

SUB Göttingen
213 659 948

7

2001 A 20861

Published by The Institute of Economic Affairs
2000

Contents

	Foreword	John Blundell	v
	The Authors		xiii
1	Introduction		1
	Professor Arthur Pollard
2	Eighteenth-Century Attitudes Towards Business		9
	Professor W. A. Speck
3	Early Nineteenth Century: Birmingham – ‘Something Direful in the Sound’		35
	Geoffrey Carnall
4	The High Victorian Period (1850-1900): ‘The Worship of Mammon’		65
	Professor Angus Easson
5	The Early Twentieth Century: Uniformity, Drudgery and Economics		99
	Dr Allan Simmons
6	Mid-Late Twentieth Century: ‘An Unprecedented Moral Quagmire’		137
	Dr John Morris		