

WILLIAM CARLOS WILLIAMS
AND THE LANGUAGE
OF POETRY

Edited and with a Preface by
Burton Hatlen and Demetres Tryphonopoulos

THE NATIONAL POETRY FOUNDATION
ORONO, MAINE 2002

CONTENTS

List of abbreviations	vii
Preface by Burton Hatlen & Demetres Tryphonopoulos	ix
William Carlos Williams and the Poetics of Ending Others Suzanne W. Churchill	3
Inversions, Evasions, Strange Machinations of Desire: William Carlos Williams and the Baroness Revisited Kerry Driscoll	43
Williams on Form: Kora in Hell Bruce Holsapple	79
William Carlos Williams Between Image and Object Tom Orange	127
Imagine the Outside: Metaphor in William Carlos Williams Piotr Parlej	157
Reanimated Numbers and Sounding's Modulations in Two Poems by William Carlos Williams Michael Boughn	169
Rephrasing Whitman: Williams and the Visual Idiom George W. Layng	181
Reading Paterson Book One: The Interpenetration of Metaphor and the "Gathered Spray" of Language Mark Gorey	201
Towards a Poetry of the Present: William Carlos Williams's Paterson , Book Three Brian M. McGrath	219

Matrimony of the Sign: The Idea and the Thing in William Carlos Williams's Paterson	Shane Rhodes 243
Pounding the Concrete: Williams's Paterson as Typographical Pastoral	Darryl Whetter 257
The Crisis of Language and Poetic Identity in Williams's "The Desert Music"	Norman Finkelstein 273
William Carlos Williams and the New Black Poetries	Aldon Nielsen 283
A Complex Realism: Reading Spring and All as Seminal for Postmodern Poetry	Donald Wellman 297
NOTES ON CONTRIBUTORS	319
INDEX	321