

Reconceiving the Renaissance

A Critical Reader

---

EDITED BY

Ewan Fernie
Ramona Wray
Mark Thornton Burnett
Clare McManus

CO-ORDINATING EDITOR

Ewan Fernie

AMERICAN CONSULTANT EDITOR

Dympna Callaghan

OXFORD
UNIVERSITY PRESS

Outline Contents

---

	Detailed Contents	viii
	Acknowledgements	xi
1	General Introduction: Reconceiving the Renaissance EWAN FERNIE & RAMONA WRAY	1
2	Textuality RAMONA WRAY	13
3	Histories MARK THORNTON BURNETT & RAMONA WRAY	85
4	Appropriation MARK THORNTON BURNETT	145
5	Identities CLARE McMANUS	211
6	Materiality EWAN FERNIE & CLARE McMANUS	278
7	Values EWAN FERNIE	353
	Acknowledgements of Sources	423
	Index	429

Detailed Contents

---

Acknowledgements	xi
1 General Introduction: Reconceiving the Renaissance	1
EWAN FERNIE & RAMONA WRAY
2 Textuality	13
RAMONA WRAY
1 The book as material object	16
2 Understanding the meanings of 'authorship' in the Renaissance	32
3 Rethinking the notion of a single, stable text	41
4 The politics of editing Shakespeare	52
5 New editorial strategies	63
Suggested further reading	71
Notes	71
References	83
3 Histories	85
MARK THORNTON BURNETT & RAMONA WRAY
1 Theorizing the relationship between text and history	87
2 Historicizing the Renaissance literary text	98
3 Historicizing beyond 'literary' boundaries	112
4 Broadening the material perspective	126
Suggested further reading	133
Notes	134
References	143
4 Appropriation	145
MARK THORNTON BURNETT
1 The relationship between an 'original' and appropriation	147
2 Shakespeare, the 'Renaissance' and cultural value	155
3 The politics of appropriation	172
4 International appropriation	190
5 The impact of new media and the end of the 'Shakespearean'	202
Suggested further reading	204
Notes	204
References	209

5	Identities	211
	CLARE McMANUS
	1 Language, the self and identity	214
	2 Theorizing the other	225
	3 Centres and margins	252
	4 The limits of the human	263
	Suggested further reading	267
	Notes	267
	References	276
6	Materiality	278
	EWAN FERNIE & CLARE McMANUS
	1 Rematerializing the subject: the body in history	282
	2 Theorizing the body: text and ideology	294
	3 Theorizing the body: desire and transformation	310
	4 Theorizing material culture	325
	Suggested further reading	339
	Notes	339
	References	352
7	Values	353
	EWAN FERNIE
	1 Reflections on literary value	356
	2 Deconstructing literature and literary value	369
	3 Reading the subversive potential of texts	377
	4 A new aestheticism?	388
	5 Ethics of the other	396
	6 Qualifying recent theory	404
	Suggested further reading	408
	Notes	408
	References	418
	Acknowledgements of Sources	423
	Index	429