

BENCHMARKS IN DISTANCE EDUCATION

The LIS Experience

EDITED BY DANIEL D. BARRON

 LIBRARIES
UNLIMITED
A Member of the Greenwood Publishing Group
Westport, Connecticut • London

CONTENTS

Preface	ix
Introduction	xi
1. If It's Friday, We're in Gadsden or Mobile: Distance Education at the University of Alabama School of Library and Information Studies Joan L. Atkinson	1
2. Distance Education at the School of Information Resources and Library Science, University of Arizona Charles A. Seavey	5
3. Dominican University (River Forest, IL) and the College of St. Catherine (St. Paul, MN) Distance Learning Experience Mary Wagner and Prudence Dalrymple	13
4. Maintaining High Touch for Effective Distance Education: The Emporia Experience Daniel Roland	23
5. Distributed Learning in the Florida State University School of Information Studies Gary Burnett, Kathleen Burnett, and Don Latham	29
6. Distance Learning at the University of Hawai'i: Serving the Underserved in an Island State Violet H. Harada	53

7. Distance Education at the University of Illinois
Leigh Estabrook 63
8. The Indiana Virtual Classroom: Interaction through
Two-Way Video 75
Daniel Callison, Shirley A. Fitzgibbons, and Edward J. Jurewicz
9. OhioLEARN: Distributed Education in Library and
Information Science at Kent State University 101
Danny P. Wallace and Connie Van Fleet
10. The Distance Learning Program at the University of
Kentucky's School of Library and Information Science 121
Timothy W. Sineath
11. The School of Library and Information Science at Louisiana State University: Distance Education Program 127
Alma Dawson
12. Distributed Learning: The Development of Courses and Programs in LIS at the University of Missouri—Columbia 161
Thomas R. Kochtanek, Charley Seavey, and John Wedman
13. The University of North Carolina at Greensboro Master
of Library and Information Studies 169
Beatrice Kovacs
14. What We Can Learn from Automating the Card Catalog?
Distributed Learning at the University of North Texas 177
Philip M. Turner
15. Partnership in Multisite Distance Learning: A Cooperative
Program for Master's Degrees in Librarianship at North
Texas 185
Keith Swigger and Phil Turner
16. "The Spirit of Learning Is a Lasting Frontier": Distance
Education in Library and Information Studies at the University of Oklahoma 199
Danny P. Wallace
17. The University of Pittsburgh's School of Information
Sciences Distance Education: Past, Present, and Future 215
Susan Webreck Alman, Christinger Tomer, and Kara Lizik Pilarsky
18. The University of Rhode Island Regional Program
Distance Education in New England 233
C. Herbert Carson
19. The Tortoise May Be Right: The Movement Toward
Distance Education at Rutgers University 247
Kay E. Vandergrift and Karen Novick

20. Distance Education at San Jose State University 263
Blanche Woolls and David V. Loertscher
21. Opening the Door to Distance Learners in South Carolina: The College of Library and Information Science Story 271
Daniel D. Barron
22. Distance Education at the School of Library and Information Science, University of South Florida 281
James O. Carey and Vicki L. Gregory
23. The University of Southern Mississippi School of Library and Information Science Distance Education History and Programs 299
M. J. Norton
24. A Tradition of Innovation: The Syracuse University Experience 313
Ruth V. Small and Barbara Settel
25. The Enterprise Confronts the Nimitz: Distance Education at the School of Information Sciences, the University of Tennessee 325
Gretchen Whitney and George Hoemann
26. Dimensions of Students' Interactive Video-Based Distance Learning Experiences: A Qualitative Study Conducted at Texas Woman's University 337
Patricia Jackson Edwards
27. Distance Education at the University of Wisconsin–Madison School of Library and Information Studies 359
Jane Pearlmutter
28. The Evolution of Distance Learning at the School of Information Studies, University of Wisconsin–Milwaukee 365
Wilfred Fong, Judith Senkevitch, and Dietmar Wolfram
- Index 373