

Approaches to the
Anglo and American
Female Epic, 1621–1982

Edited by
BERNARD SCHWEIZER
Long Island University, USA

ASHGATE

Contents

Acknowledgments	vii
List of Contributors	viii
Introduction: Muses with Pens	1
Part 1 British Women's Prose Epics
1 Romancing the Epic: Lady Mary Wroth's Urania and Literary Traditions Sheila Cavanagh	19
2 Female Heroic Action in Frances Burney's Camilla Elizabeth Kraft	37
3 Virginia Woolf and the Modern Epic Karla Alwes	55
4 Epic Form and (Re)Vision in Rebecca West's Black Lamb and Grey Falcon Bernard Schweizer	69
Part 2 British Women's Verse Epics
5 Gendering Telemachus: Anna Seward and the Epic Rewriting of Fénelon's Télémaque Adeline Johns-Putra	85
6 The Female Epic and the Journey Toward Self-Definition in Mary Tighe's Psyche Debnita Chakravarti	99
7 "Hear the Voice of the [Female] Bard": Aurora Leigh as a Female Romantic Epic Peggy Dunn Bailey	117

Part 3 American Women's Verse Epics

8	The Daughters of Penelope: Tradition and Innovation in American Epics by Women Alan C. Jalowitz	141
9	Revisionary Postwar Heroism in Gwendolyn Brooks's Annie Allen Jenny Goodman	159
10	Against the Fathers' Amnesia: Sharon Doubiago, Hard Country , and Women's Epic Jeremy M. Downes	181
	Bibliography	211
	Index	225