

---

Bloom's Modern Critical Interpretations

---

F. Scott Fitzgerald's
Short Stories

---

Edited and with an introduction by
Harold Bloom
Sterling Professor of the Humanities
Yale University

 BLOOM'S
LITERARY CRITICISM
An Infobase Learning Company

Contents

Editor's Note	vii
Introduction Harold Bloom	1
Fitzgerald's "Crazy Sunday": Cinderella in Hollywood Kenneth G. Johnston	3
Structural Metaphors in Fitzgerald's Short Fiction William J. Brondell	11
Fitzgerald's "The Diamond as Big as the Ritz" and Hawthorne's "Rappaccini's Daughter" Leonard A. Podis	33
Fitzgerald's "May Day": The Uses of Irresponsibility Robert Roulston	43
"Outside the Cabinet-Maker's": Fitzgerald's "Ode to a Nightingale" Bruce L. Grenberg	55
Figuring the Damage: Fitzgerald's "Babylon Revisited" and Hemingway's "The Snows of Kilimanjaro" J. Gerald Kennedy	65
Art and Autobiography in Fitzgerald's "Babylon Revisited" Richard Allan Davison	91

Noxious Nostalgia: Fitzgerald, Faulkner, and the Legacy of Plantation Fiction Veronica Makowsky	101
Fitzgerald and the Geography of Progress Ronald Berman	111
Money and Marriage in Fitzgerald's Stories Scott Donaldson	123
Chronology	135
Contributors	137
Bibliography	139
Acknowledgments	143
Index	145