

Teaching the Early Modern Period

Edited by

Derval Conroy

Danielle Clarke

palgrave
macmillan

Contents

Acknowledgements	viii
Notes on Contributors	ix
Introduction	1
Danielle Clarke and Derval Conroy
1 The Scholarship of Teaching the Early Modern: An Overview Derval Conroy	8
Part 1 The Early Modern in the Digital Age
2 Renaissance Teaching and Learning: Humanist Pedagogy in the Digital Age and What it Might Teach Us Danielle Clarke	27
3 Information Revolutions Past and Present, and Teaching the Early Modern Period Paul M. Dover	50
Part 2 The Early Modern and its Others
4 'Other Voices': The Early Modern Past in Provincial America Jonathan Dewald	73
5 Exploring the Limits of the Thinkable Siep Stuurman	76
6 Lobola, Intombi and the Soft-Porn Centaur: Teaching King Lear in the Post-Apartheid South African Classroom Deborah Seddon	81
7 Windows of Gold Ruth Whelan	104
8 A Renaissance Woman Adrift in the World Merry E. Wiesner-Hanks	113
9 Worlds Apart, Worlds Away: Integrating the Early Modern in the Antipodes Susan Broomhall	118

10	Paradise Regained? Teaching the Multicultural Renaissance Jane Grogan	124
11	Shakespeare and the Problem of the Early Modern Curriculum Andrew Hadfield	146
Part 3 The Early Modern in the Contemporary Classroom: Course Design and Classroom Practice
12	An Early Modern Challenge: Finding the Student In-road Patrick Cheney	153
13	Teaching Shakespeare Historically Mark Thornton Burnett	157
14	The Importance of Being Endogenous Alain Viala	161
15	Literature, Philosophy and Medicine: Strategies for an Interdisciplinary Approach to the Seventeenth Century Bernadette Höfer	165
16	Teaching Versailles Henriette Goldwyn	184
17	Paradoxical Creativity: Using Censorship to Develop Critical Reading and Thinking Karolyn Waterson	190
18	T-shirt Day, Utopia and Henry VIII's Dating Service: Using Creative Assignments to Teach Early Modern History Carole Levin	218
19	The Importance of Boredom in Learning about the Early Modern Ceri Sullivan	222
Part 4 Performing the Early Modern
20	Teaching French Seventeenth-century Theatre: Saying is Believing Henry Phillips	227
21	Teaching Early Modern Spectacle through Film: Exploring Possibilities, Challenges and Pitfalls through a French Corpus Guy Spielmann	231

22	Relevance and its Discontents: Teaching Sofia Coppola's Marie Antoinette Amy Wygant	251
23	Presence, Performance and Critical Pleasure: Play and Prerequisites in Research and Teaching Christian Biet	263
	Index	270