

Refashioning Ben Jonson

Gender, Politics and the Jonsonian Canon

Edited by

Julie Sanders

with

Kate Chedgzoy

and

Susan Wiseman

Contents

Acknowledgements	vi
1 Introduction: Refashioning Ben Jonson Kate Chedgzoy, Julie Sanders and Susan Wiseman	1
2 Jonson's 'Comical Satires' and the Art of Courtly Compliment Janet Clare	28
3 'Satyres, That Girde and Fart at the Time': Poetaster and the Essex Rebellion Tom Cain	48
4 Sejanus : Ethics and Politics in the Early Reign of James Robert C. Evans	71
5 'Defacing the Carcass': Anne of Denmark and Jonson's The Masque of Blackness Clare McManus	93
6 The Lone Wolf: Jonson's Epistle to Volpone Richard Dutton	114
7 Making and Buying: Ben Jonson and the Commercial Theatre Audience Kate McLuskie	134
8 Hell for Lovers: Shades of Adultery in The Devil is an Ass Helen Ostovich	155
9 Print, Popular Culture, Consumption and Commodification in The Staple of News Julie Sanders	183
10 'The Echo of Uncertaintie': Jonson, Classical Drama and the English Civil War Susan Wiseman	208
Index	230