AIMS AND SCOPE

The book series World Forests is intended for a wide range of readers as follows: national and international bodies that are concerned with forest and related policy issues, the academia - students, teachers and researchers - as well as business professionals, non-governmental organizations, the media and interested citizens worldwide. The purpose of the series is to publish research-based reviews of globally relevant issues within world forests, society and environment from an independent and non-governmental point of view.

The volumes to be published in the series will be both multidisciplinary with a broad range of coverage and more focused in-depth analyses of a particular field in forest sciences. Globalization processes and comparative analyses of regions and countries are among themes to be covered. The volumes may be based on invited material or they may result from symposia, conferences, or workshops. International scientific standards will be followed. Therefore, for example, all published material will go through a peer-review process.
