

Photography and the Performing Arts

Gerry Kopelow

Anola, Manitoba, Canada

Focal Press

Boston • London

Contents

Acknowledgments xi

Technical Notes xiii

Introduction 1

How I Got This Way 1

Overview 2

Who Can Photograph the Performing Arts? 3

The Potential of Performing Arts Photography 3

Current Practice 5

Photographic Diplomacy 6

How This Book Is Organized 6

1 Overview of the Performing Arts 9

Theater 9

Ballet and Opera 11

Contemporary Dance and Musical Theater 13

Live Music 13

Television and Film 14

Outdoor Performances 15

Amateur Productions 15

2 Basic Available Light Photography 17

Introduction 17

Film 18

Format 19

Camera Configurations 20

SLR versus Rangefinder 21

Auto-Everything	22
Lenses	23
Keeping Still	26
An Indispensable Accessory	29

3 Theatrical Lighting 31

The Qualities of Light	31
Artificial Light	33
The Lighting Designer's Repertoire	35
Technical Characteristics of Stage Lighting	36
A Unique Tool	38
Film and Television Lighting	39
Supplementary Photographic Lighting	40

4 Exposure and Print Control 43

Exposure Control	43
Measuring Light	43
A Gray World	44
Why Processing Is Necessary	46
Why I Have a Darkroom	46
Darkroom Procedures	46
The Black-and-White Negative	47
A Good Black-and-White Print	48
The Technique of Printmaking in Brief	48
Characteristics of Color Films	49
Color Printing the Simple Way	50
Safelight	51
Temperature Control	51
New Variables	52

5 Efficient Techniques in Detail 53

Theater	53
Opera, Musical Theater, and Dance	62
Classical Music	66
Popular Music	69
Outdoor and Street Performances	70
Amateur Productions	75
Film and TV Production	77

6	Formal Photo Call and Studio Techniques	81
	Formal Photo Calls	81
	Studio Techniques	87
7	People Skills for Performing Arts Work	99
	Egos, Artists, and Diplomacy	99
	The Role of Photography in Marketing the Performing Arts	100
	Politics and Personalities	101
8	Photographic Needs of Individuals	115
	Introduction	115
	Actors	115
	Musicians	121
	Singers	122
	Dancers	124
	Set, Costume, Lighting, and Wig Designers	125
	Directors, Writers, and Related Professionals	127
	Multiple Printing Technique	127
	Burning in Names, Address Information, and Logos	128
	The Cast Picture	129
9	Variations of Performing Arts Photography	131
	Approaches to the Promotional Portrait	131
	The Art of the Promotional Poster	134
	Record, Tape, and Compact Disc Covers	143
	Images for Fund-Raising	144
	Editorial Photography for Newspapers and Magazines	145
	On the Temptations of Popular Culture	148
10	Marketing Performing Arts Photography	151
	Crossover Skills	151
	Breaking into the Industry	151
	Educating Your Clients	155
	Dealing with the Competition	159

Interviews 163

- David Cooper, Photographer 163
Robert Enright, Magazine Editor 167
Geoff Hayes, Designer and Marketing Director
Paul Martens, Photographer 169
Vonnie Von Helmolt, Feature Film Producer
Robert Barrow, Feature Film Still Photographer 173
Max Tapper, Performing Arts Manager 176
Bill Williams, Lighting Designer 180
Steve Rosenberg, Graphic Designer 183
Pat Elsworth, Communications Director
Michael Springate, Artistic Director 187

Index 189