

Communicating the Nation

National Topographies of Global Media Landscapes

Anna Roosvall & Inka Salovaara-Moring (eds.)

NORDICOM

Contents

Acknowledgements	7
Anna Roosvall & Inka Salovaara-Moring Introduction	9
I. THE MAKING OF NATIONS
Terhi Rantanen Methodological Inter-Nationalism in Comparative Media Research. Flow Studies in International Communication	25
Britta Timm Knudsen The Nation as Media Event	41
Lilie Chouliaraki The Mediation of Death and the Imagination of National Community	59
Göran Bolin & Per Ståhlberg Between Community and Commodity. Nationalism and Nation Branding	79
II. NATIONS AND EMPIRES REVISITED
Inka Salovaara-Moring The Future is a Foreign Place. Topographies of Post-Communism, Nation and Media	105
Ivan Zassoursky Imperial Glory is Back? Retelling the Russian National Narrative by Representation and Communication	123
Toby Miller Holy Trinity: Nation Pentagon, Screen	143
Andrew Calabrese Vox Americana. Why the Media Forget, and Why it is Important to Remember	163

III. NATIONAL SELVES AND OTHERS

Tamar Asburi

The National vs. the Global.

Producing National History in a Global Television Era 177

Kristina Riegert

National Television News of the World. Challenges and Consequences 195

Anna Roosvall

Image-Nation.

The National, the Cultural and the Global in Foreign News Slide-shows 215

Anu Kantola

The Disciplined Imaginary.

The Nation Rejuvenated for the Global Condition 237

The Authors

255