

Contents

List of Boxes, Figures and Tables	xi
Abbreviations and Acronyms	xiv
Preface	xviii
1 Introduction: Situating the European Parliament in the EU's Political System	1
Introduction	1
The European Union as a political system	1
Main themes	3
Empowerment	3
Representation	4
Normality	5
Concluding remarks	6
2 The Gradual Empowerment of the European Parliament	7
Introduction: the EP's empowerment – institutional ‘patriotism’ or institutional opportunism?	7
From the Assembly to the first direct elections	8
The Single European Act and the end of the Luxembourg Compromise	12
Maastricht: a turning point	14
Amsterdam: from talking shop to full co-legislator	16
From Nice to Lisbon: the constitutional Convention and the eastern enlargement	18
Post-Lisbon: the EP as an ordinary legislature	22
Conclusion	25
3 Internal Organisation	27
Introduction: organisation as a form of institutionalisation	27
Policy-making structures	28
Plenary	29
Committees	31
Delegations	35
Intergroups	37
Political structures	38

Political groups	38
Conference of Presidents	40
The Bureau	41
College of Quaestors	42
The Conference of Committee Chairs	43
The Conference of Delegation Chairs	43
Key actors	44
President of the EP	45
Vice-Presidents	48
Political group leaders	48
Committee chairs	51
Political group coordinators	53
Conclusion	53
4
Legislative and Budgetary Functions	57
Introduction: a ‘normal’ parliament?	57
Legislative functions	57
Consultation	57
Co-decision (ordinary legislative procedure)	62
Consent (formerly known as ‘assent’)	72
Budgetary functions	79
Budgetary income	80
Budgetary expenditure	81
Budgetary control	86
Conclusion	89
5
Non-Legislative Functions	90
Introduction: accountability and control	90
Parliamentary questions	90
Written questions	91
Oral questions	92
Agenda-setting powers	94
Legislative-initiative procedure	95
Non-legislative reports and written declarations	97
Strategic reports and the Commission’s Work Programme	98
Ex post evaluation	99
‘Theatre of engagement’	100
Appointments and accountability	101
Appointing the Commission and its President	101
Censuring the Commission	106
Appointing other EU bodies	107
Conclusion	110

6	Elections and Electoral Support	111
	Introduction: what determines the outcome of EP elections?	111
	One demos or several?	113
	How are elections organised?	115
	Voting and standing for candidate	115
	District magnitude and electoral thresholds	119
	Differences in national electoral systems and their implications	119
	Geographical representation	120
	Selection of candidates and electoral campaigns	121
	Electoral turnout	123
	Vote switching	128
	Still second-order elections?	130
	Conclusion	131
7	Lobbying, Interest Representation and the Media	132
	Introduction: representing which and whose interests?	132
	Whom are interest groups representing?	133
	Types of interest group	134
	Why does the EP listen to interest groups?	136
	Analysing the influence of interest groups over the policy process	138
	Resources	138
	Policy cycle and salience	139
	Access	140
	The most important lobby targets	141
	Is the European Parliament biased towards business groups?	143
	Regulating access to MEPs	144
	The media: framing demands and disseminating outputs	146
	Second-order reporting?	146
	Modern technologies as a new way to connect with EU citizens	148
	MEPs 2.0? Online communication as a new form of representation	152
	Conclusion	155
8	MEPs and Their Offices: Managing Frontstage and Backstage Roles	156
	Introduction: exploring the micro level	156
	A new European parliamentary elite?	157
	The multiple roles and functions of MEPs	160
	Representing their constituency	160

Specialising in a policy field	162
Making a career inside the EP	164
Using the EP to promote or contest European integration	165
Following ideological lines? MEPs' voting behaviour	168
EP staff and MEPs' offices: expertise and the management of information	170
Assistants: acquiring and filtering information	171
Political advisors	174
EP staff	176
Conclusion	181
9 Political Groups and National Party Delegations	183
Introduction: multi-level party politics	183
Political groups: aggregating demands and seeking cohesion	184
Aggregation: to what extent are EP political groups coherent?	188
Voting cohesion: a necessary condition for policy influence	190
National party delegations: the link between Europe and home	193
Stealing power away from EP political groups	193
National party delegations as instruments of control	197
The importance of national party delegations in the everyday life of MEPs	199
Coalition formation: an issue of size?	200
European party federations	204
The evolution of European party federations	204
Functions and influence of European party federations	211
Towards genuine transnational parties?	212
Conclusion	213
10 Sites of Translation: From Committees to the Plenary	215
Introduction: legislative politics inside the EP	215
Committees: the backbone of the institution	216
Functions	217
Organisational cultures	219
Inter-committee cooperation and conflict	223
Shifting up: the relationship between committees and the plenary	226
The symbolic power of the plenary	231
The plenary as an instrument of last resort	231
Voting time as a ritualised performance	232

	Signalling and justifying positions in plenary debates	234
	Keeping order in the chamber	237
	Conclusion	238
11	The EP as a Co-Decider: Key Negotiating Roles and the Power of Consensus	240
	Introduction: institutionalist approaches to EU decision-making	240
	Early agreements and trilogues: looking for an efficient compromise	242
	Formal rules	243
	Bicameralism	244
	Trilogues	246
	The growing importance of rapporteurs	251
	The selection of rapporteurs	251
	Responsibilities and effectiveness	253
	The influence of rapporteurs in co-decision negotiations	254
	Shaping the negotiations: shadow rapporteurs, committee chairs and ‘relais’ actors	255
	Reversing political developments?	259
	Inter-institutional relations: policy-making and the weight of institutional interests	261
	Conclusion	264
12	Conclusion	267
	Introduction	267
	Major themes	268
	Empowerment	268
	Representation	269
	Normality	270
	Concluding remarks: towards a parliamentary political system?	272
	References	275
	Index	312
	Name Index	332