

A 335850

Theory of the Global State

Globality as^{an} Unfinished Revolution

Martin Shaw

CAMBRIDGE
UNIVERSITY PRESS

Contents

Preface	page xi
1 Introduction: globality in historical perspective	1
Three narratives of transition	2
Conceptualizing change	7
The meaning of global	9
Fallacies of the globalization debate	12
Grasping the revolution	15
Key problems in the theory of globality	18
Method, argument and structure	20
 Part I Critique
2 Critique of national and international relations	25
The problem of nationality and internationality	27
Sovereignty and universality	30
Capitalist modernity	34
State, geopolitics and industrial society	43
Culture, nationality and ethnicity	47
Internationality and anarchy	51
War and society	58
Revolution and civil war	62
 3 Intimations of globality: Hamlet without the Prince	67
Social science as stamp collecting	68
Crisis of ancien régime social science	70

Limits of the international	76
Economism and sociologism in global theory	80
Transformations of internationality	90
Seeking the global Prince	94

Part II History and agency

4 Internationalized bloc-states and democratic revolution	101
Contradictions of the high national-international era	102
Dialectics of total war	105
1945 and the national-democratic revolution	110
A post-national, pre-global world	116
Global institutions and consciousness	120
Cold War and the integrated bloc-state	124
Democratic revolution, Cold War and war	133
Towards globalism	137
The real 'revolution in the revolution'	139
5 Global revolution, counterrevolution and genocidal war	144
The final crisis of the bloc-system	145
Revolution and counterrevolution, 1989–91	151
From counterrevolution to genocide	158
Worldwide scope of revolutionary change	160
Global-democratic revolution and state formation	166

Part III State

6 State in globality	173
Globality and social categories	174
The singularity of state	179
Defining state in plurality	185
Global state: singularity and plurality	192
7 Relations and forms of global state power	195
Centres of power, borders of violence	197
The global-Western state-conglomerate	199
Quasi-imperial nation-states	208
New, proto- and quasi-states	211

	The global layer of state	213
	State relations and 'intervention' in globality	220
	Changing conditions of sovereignty	225
	National and international in the global era	229
8	Contradictions of state power: towards the global state?	232
	Crises of the quasi-imperial nation-states	233
	Dilemmas of new states	237
	Evolving structure of the Western state	239
	The superpower, the Union and the future of the West	244
	Towards a global state?	251
	Limits and contradictions of global state power	255
	Part IV Conclusion
9	Politics of the unfinished revolution	259
	Old politics and new	260
	Completing the global revolution	265
	References	271
	Index	287