

The Interpretation of International Investment Law

Equality, Discrimination and Minimum Standards of Treatment in Historical Context

By

Todd Weiler

MARTINUS
NIJHOFF
PUBLISHERS

LEIDEN • BOSTON
2013

Contents

List of Abbreviations	xi
Table of Cases Cited	xiii
Table of Instruments Cited	xxiii
Foreword	xxxv
Charles N. Brower
Preface	xli
Chapter One Fundamental Norms of International Investment Law ...	1
1. The Relative 'Newness' of International Investment Law	3
2. The Notion of Sovereignty	6
3. Individual Self-Help on an International Plane	8
4. Dispelling the Myths and Misunderstandings of International Investment Law	12
5. International Investment Law: An Historical Treatment	17
6. Conclusion	20
Chapter Two Historical Analysis and the Interpretation of International Investment Law	21
1. On Hunting Wild Geese: The Pursuit of Subjective Intent	24
2. The Functional Element in Investment Treaty Interpretation	27
3. The Structural Element in Investment Treaty Interpretation	29
4. The Arbitrator's Role as Interpreter in Investor-State Arbitration ..	34
5. Historical Analysis and Treaty Interpretation	40
6. The Principle of Contemporaneity in Treaty Interpretation	42
7. The Idea of Jurisprudence Constante in International Investment Law	49
8. Conclusion	56
Chapter Three Protection and Security: The Standard in Historical Context	59
1. International Law, Methodology and Approach	63
2. Ancient and Dark Ages Hospitality	74
3. Medieval Hospitality	79

4. Enlightenment Bilateralism and the Unilateral Duty to Protect	92
5. The Customary International Law Minimum Standard of Treatment of Aliens	100
6. The Standard of Civilisation and the Community of Nations	115
7. International Lawyers as Apologists for Colonialism?	121
8. Conclusion	127
Chapter Four Protection and Security: Before and After the Standard of Civilisation	129
1. The Haudenosaunee Confederacy	130
2. China	144
3. 20th Century Protection & Security in Treaty Practice	159
4. Progeny of the P&S Standard	166
5. Protection & Security and the Development of Human Rights	169
6. Conclusion	179
Chapter Five Fair and Equitable Treatment: A 'True Story'	183
1. Justiciability and 'International Law' Clauses	184
2. The FET in Different Treaty Contexts	190
3. Is 'Equitable' a 'Reasonable' Choice of Term?	199
4. The Post-War Search for Standards Such as FET	205
5. The FET Standard – Yours, Courtesy of the U.S. Government	211
6. A Note on Interpretation and Contemporaneity	221
7. From Bilateralism to Multilateralism	224
8. Fair and Equitable Treatment and Custom: Are We There Yet?	235
9. Conclusion	239
Chapter Six Fair and Equitable Treatment versus the CILMSTA: 'Bureaucrats Run Amok'	241
1. Before the [Re-]Interpretation Controversy	242
2. The [Re-]Interpretation Controversy	250
3. Bureaucrats Run Amok?	259
4. After the [Re-]Interpretation Controversy	275
5. Conclusion	286
Chapter Seven Fair and Equitable Treatment and Arbitrary or Discriminatory Measures	287
1. The FET Standard as a Backup or Proxy for Treatment No Less Favourable	288
2. Non-Discrimination and the Doctrine on Denials of Justice	296
3. Good Faith and the Meaning of Arbitrariness	305
4. Deference	321
5. Conclusion	332

Chapter Eight	Development of the ‘Treatment No Less Favourable’ Standard: From the Beginning Until 1948	333
1.	Early History of the TNLF Standard	334
2.	The 19th Century Experience – TNLF Outlives Mercantilism	341
3.	A Near-Death Experience for TNLF: Widespread Protectionism Returns	344
4.	The GATT/ITO Negotiations	352
5.	The “Liberal Socialism” of James Meade and the British Mandarinate	364
6.	The U.N. Conferences on Trade & Employment: London, Geneva & New York (1946–1947)	378
7.	Havana, the End of the Road: ITO Charter Post-Mortem	396
8.	“Green Shoots” – U.S. Post War (and Post-ITO) Policy on Foreign Investment	404
9.	Conclusion	410
Chapter Nine	Treatment No Less Favourable and International Investment Law	415
1.	National Treatment Returns Home, before Promptly Splitting in Two and Heading Off in Different Directions	416
2.	Economic Patterns, Globalisation and IIL Doctrine	420
3.	Equal Access, Non-Discrimination, the ‘Open Door’ and the ‘Level Playing Field’	428
4.	Nationality-Based Discrimination versus Effective Equality of Opportunity	434
5.	The Unique Character of the TNLF Standard within the Context of International Investment Law	447
6.	Conclusion	453
Chapter Ten	Conclusion	455
Select Bibliography
History
1.	Historiography	459
2.	Ancient and Classical	459
3.	Early Modern to 17th Century	461
4.	18th and 19th Centuries	464
5.	20th Century Politics and Economics	465
6.	20th Century Personalities	468
7.	The Havana Charter	470

Theory
1. Political and Economic Theory	473
2. Early Works of International Law	474
3. International Law Theory	475
4. Customary International Law	476
5. Public International Law	477
6. International Economic Law	479
7. From Calvo's Doctrine to the NIEO to Today	480
Treaties
1. Interpretation	481
2. Consistency and Jurisprudence Constante	484
3. Investor-State Arbitration	485
4. Multilateral Rules on Investment Regulation	488
5. United States Treaty Practice	489
Law & Practice
1. Arbitration	491
2. Mixed Claims Commissions	491
3. International Trade Law	492
4. Regulating International Investment Regulations – Before BITs ...	494
5. Regulating International Investment Regulations – After BITs	496
Doctrine
1. Equality and Discrimination	497
2. Most Favored Nation Treatment	498
3. Good Faith and Abuse of Rights in International Law	500
4. Equity and International Law	501
5. State Responsibility, Aliens and Diplomatic Protection	502
6. Human Rights Law and Investment Law	504
7. Expropriation	505
8. Denial of Justice Doctrine	507
9. Fair & Equitable Treatment / Minimum Standard of Treatment ...	507
10. NAFTA Chapter II	509
Index	513