

A CLASS BY HERSELF

Protective Laws for Women Workers, 1890s–1990s

Nancy Woloch

Princeton University Press
Princeton and Oxford

Contents

Introduction	1
1
Roots of Protection: The National Consumers' League and Progressive Reform	5
Progressives Mobilize	6
Florence Kelley and the NCL	11
Rationales: The Perils of Pragmatism	18
Roadblocks: Business and Labor	25
Law: Constraint and Opportunity	28
2
Gender, Protection, and the Courts, 1895–1907	33
Freedom of Contract versus the Police Power	35
A Lowell Mill: Commonwealth v. Hamilton Manufacturing Co. (1876)	38
A Chicago Box Factory: Ritchie v. People (1895)	39
A Utah Mine: Holden v. Hardy (1898)	43
Women's Hours Laws: Pennsylvania, Washington, Nebraska	45
A Utica Bakery: Lochner v. New York (1905)	48
A New York Bookbindery: People v. Williams (1907)	51
3
A Class by Herself: Muller v. Oregon (1908)	54
Local Roots of the Muller Case	55
Muller Goes to Court	58
The NCL Steps In	61
The Brandeis Brief	64
Curt Muller's Brief	70
The Muller v. Oregon Opinion	73
Assessing the Law of 1903	79

4
Protection in Ascent, 1908–23		85
Maximum Hours Cases		87
Night Work Laws		93
Protecting Men		97
The Minimum Wage		103
War and Peace		109
Adkins v. Children's Hospital (1923)		112
5
Different versus Equal: The 1920s		121
Alice Paul, the National Woman's Party, and the ERA		122
The NCL, Social Feminism, and the Minimum Wage		125
Factions Collide: The Women's Movement		130
Close Combat: The Conferences		133
The Women's Bureau Report of 1928		137
Did the Laws Work? Enforcement and Effectiveness		141
Working Women's Voices		145
6
Transformations: The New Deal through the 1950s		152
New Deal Women		153
The Minimum Wage and the Revolution of 1937		158
FLSA: Protection Triumphant		162
The 1940s: War and Postwar		167
Bartending: Goesaert v. Cleary (1948)		174
Women in Unions		180
The Women's Bureau and the NWP		184
7
Trading Places: The 1960s and 1970s		191
The Early 1960s: PCSW and Equal Pay		193
Title VII, the EEOC, and Protective Laws		197
Protection Debated: Pressure and Politics, 1965–69		202

Protection Challenged: Three Landmark Cases	207
Protection Dismantled: The Courts and the States	212
Closing Arguments: 1970	221
The ERA and the Women's Movement	224
8
Last Lap: Work and Pregnancy	235
Pregnancy Cases: The 1970s	236
The Pregnancy Discrimination Act (1978)	242
Toward Family Leave	248
The Toxic Workplace	250
The Johnson Controls Decision (1991)	255
Conclusion: Protection Revisited	261
Looking Back: The Clash over Overtime	263
Moving On: After Protection	267
Acknowledgments	273
Notes	275
Index	321