

A 363656

Immigration, Asylum and Human Rights

Nicholas Blake QC

and

Raza Husain

Series Editor: John Wadham

OXFORD UNIVERSITY PRESS

Contents

Preface	ix
Table of Cases	xi
Table of Primary Legislation	xl
Table of Secondary Legislation	xlix
Table of International Instruments	lii
Introduction	1
1. The Human Rights Act 1998 and the Immigration and Asylum Act 1999	18
1.1 Introduction	18
1.4 The scheme of immigration control	19
1.14 The duty to act compatibly	22
1.33 The enforcement of the duty	31
1.54 The application and interpretation of the Convention	40
1.87 Immigration appeals	52
1.95 Section 65 of the IAA 1999	54
1.109 Prevention of abuse	57
1.123 Special Immigration Appeals Commission	62
2. The Protection of Life, Bodily Integrity and Human Dignity	64
2.1 Introduction	64
2.7 Scope of application: deliberate harm	66
2.37 Absolute nature of the obligation	77
2.44 Incremental and updating approach	79
2.49 Expulsion cases and the death penalty	81

2.54	The UN Convention Against Torture 1984	84
2.61	Harm by non-state agents	87
2.66	Application to expulsions	88
2.81	Generalized failure of protection	93
2.84	Application in the United Kingdom	94
3. Protection from Arbitrary Detention		114
3.1	Introduction	114
3.3	The requirements of Article 5: the right to liberty and security of the person	115
3.76	The domestic legal framework	142
3.102	The impact of Article 5	150
3.146	Home Office, Operational Enforcement Manual, 21 December 2000, Chapter 38	162
4. The Protection of Family and Private Life		165
4.1	Introduction	165
4.7	Is there family and private life enjoyed?	166
4.29	Interference with the right to respect for family and private life	175
4.66	Justification: the law	189
4.71	Justification: legitimate motives	190
4.77	Justification: proportionality and necessity	192
4.93	Application	198
5. Procedural Rights		211
5.1	Introduction	211
5.7	The requirements of Article 6 and the position at common law	213
5.74	Article 13	236
5.84	Conclusions on the compatibility of domestic immigration law with Articles 6 and 13	240
5.92	Article 6(1): scope revisited—the decision in Maaouia v France and the domestic position	242
5.126	Judicial review and Article 13	256
5.145	Judicial review and statutory appeals to the Court of Appeal: the approach under the Human Rights Act 1998	264
5.178	Judicial review and statutory appeals in the light of the Human Rights Act 1998	278
6. Discrimination		311
6.1	Scope of Article 14	311

7. Postscript: The Implications of the Anti-Terrorism, Crime and Security Act 2001 for Immigration and Asylum	336
7.1 Introduction	336
7.6 Anti-Terrorism, Crime and Security Act	339
Appendix One Human Rights Act 1998	347
Appendix Two European Convention on Human Rights	376
Index	405