

A 393810

GLOBALISATION IN THE EARLY MODERN PERIOD

The economic relationship between
Amsterdam and Lisbon, 1640-1705

CÁTIA ANTUNES

aksant
2004

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Acknowledgments vii
Abbreviations ix

1 INTRODUCTION 1

- 1.1 Historical Issues 1
- 1.2 The case study 7
- 1.3 The Sources 7

PART I Early Modern Globalisation – the model

2 THE MODEL OF HISTORICAL GLOBALISATION 13

- 2.1 The model of historical globalisation 13
- 2.2 Expansive globalisation: the world after 1415 20

PART II The case study

3 AMSTERDAM AND LISBON The development of the urban structure 33

- 3.1 Demographic development 34
- 3.2 Urban Structure 35
- 3.3 Socio-economic groups 48
- 3.4 Urban administration 53
- 3.5 Conclusion 56

4 AMSTERDAM AND LISBON The urban trade networks 59

- 4.1 The hinterland 62
- 4.2 The European networks 67
- 4.3 The intercontinental networks 71
- 4.4 Conclusion 88

- 5 AMSTERDAM AND LISBON The bilateral network – trade, credit and investment 91
- 5.1 Trade 92
 - 5.2 Credit and Investment 116
 - 5.3 Conclusion 121
- 6 AMSTERDAM AND LISBON The bilateral network – merchants, businessmen, investors and migrants 123
- 6.1 Merchants, businessmen and investors 123
 - 6.2 Dutch interests in Lisbon 137
 - 6.3 Labour and migration 138
 - 6.3 Conclusion 140
- 7 DIPLOMATS BEHIND ECONOMICS 141
- 7.1 The 1640s: a good start 142
 - 7.2 The 1650s: 'cold war' or real war? 150
 - 7.3 The 1660s: the road to peace 158
 - 7.4 The 1670s: a difficult moment 164
 - 7.5 The 1680s: on the way to recovery 166
 - 7.6 The 1690s: the advantages of neutrality 169
 - 7.7 The 1700s: allies 174
 - 7.8 Conclusion 181

PART III The model vs the case study

- 8 TESTING THE MODEL Conclusion 185

- Appendix 193
- Endnotes 195
- Bibliography 221
- Index 233