

Contents

Acknowledgments vii

Foreword by T. Denean Sharpley-Whiting ix

Introduction 1

- 1 Good Slave Masters Don't Exist: Lovable Racists and the Crisis of Authorship in Twelve Years a Slave 21
- 2 Constituting the Crime: White Innocence as an Apparatus of Oppression 46
- 3 "We Have More to Fear than Racism that Announces Itself": Distraction as a Strategy to Oppress 69
- 4 "Only Tired I Was, Was Tired of Giving In": Rosa Parks, Magical Negroes, and the Whitewashing of Black Struggle 91
- 5 Santa Claus Is White and Jesus Is Too: Era(c)ing White Myths for the Health and Well-Being of Our Children 109

Coda 127 Notes 133 Index 143