

THE NORWEGIAN INTELLIGENCE SERVICE

1945–1970

OLAV RISTE

Institute for Defence Studies, Oslo

FRANK CASS
LONDON • PORTLAND, OR

Contents

List of Illustrations	vi
List of Maps	viii
Preface	ix
Abbreviations and Glossary	xiii
1 Beginnings	1
2 Into the Cold War: Intelligence and Security	13
3 Occupation Preparedness: 'Stay Behind'	34
4 Through the Iron Curtain: Humint and Photint	55
5 Comint: Communications Intelligence	84
6 Electronic Intelligence (1): The Air Force as Elint Pioneer	115
7 Electronic Intelligence (2): The Norwegian Intelligence Service Takes Over	146
8 Sound Waves in the Seas: BRIDGE/SOSUS/CANASTA	164
9 Monitoring of Nuclear Tests	191
10 Telemetry: Surveillance of Space, Missiles and Satellite Activity	212
11 'Sets of Professional Bargains': The Foreign Relations of the Norwegian Intelligence Service	225
12 A State Within the State? Controlling the Intelligence Service	235
13 The Uses of Intelligence	249
14 'Square Pegs in Round Holes': Organisation and Personnel	262
15 Final Act for Evang	273
Conclusion	287
Operations and Code-Names	297
Maps	302
Bibliography	307
Index	311