

2851-4073

Writing against Boundaries
Nationality, Ethnicity and Gender in the German-speaking Context

Editors

Barbara Kosta and Helga Kraft

Amsterdam – New York, NY 2003

CONTENTS

Introduction: Writing against Boundaries	1
BARBARA KOSTA HELGA KRAFT
“Only Germany raises real men for the world”: Richard Wagner's Ring des Nibelungen, Nation, and the Third Reich	9
MONIKA SCHAUSTEN
Exile and Nation, Body and Gender in the Works of Talvj (1797-1870)	29
MARTHA KAARSBERG WALLACH
The “New Woman” as a Foreigner: Individual and National Identity in Annette Kolb's novel Das Exemplar	39
VIVIAN LISKA
Narratives of Nomadism or Copying German Culture	47
CLAUDIA BREGER
Symptomatic Bodies: Fascism, Gender and Hans Bellmer's Dolls	61
SUSANNE BAACKMANN
Murderous Boundaries: Nation, Memory and Austria's Fascist Past in Elfriede Jelinek's Stecken, Stab und Stangl	81
BARBARA KOSTA
A Turkish-German Odyssey: Aras Ören's Eine verspätete Abrechnung oder Der Aufstieg der Gündoğdus	99
ELIZABETH LOENTZ
Staging Xenophobia in the 1990s: The Political Plays of Bettina Fless, Anna Langhoff, and Emine Sevgi Özdamar	113
HELGA W. KRAFT
The Bad Mothers: Medea-Myths and National Discourse in Texts from Elisabeth Langgässer and Christa Wolf	131
INGE STEPHAN

Searching for a Motherland: Women Breaking Their Generational Chains in Christa Wolf's Kindheitsmuster, Sommerstück, and Medea. Stimmen	141
HELGA W. KRAFT
The Body as Exile in the Works of Irene Dische	167
ELKE LIEBS
New German Cinema's Boundaries Opened: Postmodern Authorship and Nationality in Monika Treut's Films of the 1980s	177
ANDREA REIMANN
Bibliography and Filmography	197
Contributors to this Volume	213
Index	217