

CONTENTS.

CHAPTER I.

MY BIRTH AND CHILDHOOD.

Earliest memories. — Born in Maryland. — My father's first appearance. — Attempted outrage on my mother. — My father's fight with an overseer. — One hundred stripes and his ear cut off. — Throws away his banjo and becomes morose. — Sold South, 1

CHAPTER II.

MY FIRST GREAT TRIAL.

Origin of my name. — A kind master. — He is drowned. — My mother's prayers. — A slave auction. — Torn from my mother. — Severe sickness. — A cruel master. — Sold again and restored to my mother, 8

CHAPTER III.

MY BOYHOOD AND YOUTH

Early employment. — Slave-life. — Food, lodging, clothing. — Amusements. — Gleams of sunshine. — My knight-errantry. — Become an overseer and general superintendent, 16

CHAPTER IV.

MY CONVERSION.

- A good man. — Hear a sermon for the first time. — Its effects upon me. — Prayer and communion. — Its first fruits, 25

CHAPTER V.

MAIMED FOR LIFE.

- Taking care of my drunken master. — His fight with an overseer. — Rescue him. — Am terribly beaten by the overseer. — My master seeks redress at law, but fails. — Sufferings then and since. — Retain my post as superintendent; 1

CHAPTER VI

A RESPONSIBLE JOURNEY.

- My marriage. — Marriage of my master. — His ruin. — Comes to me for aid. — A great enterprise undertaken. — Long and successful journey. — Incidents by the way. — Struggle between inclination and duty. — Duty triumphant, 42

CHAPTER VII.

A NEW HOME.

- Become a Methodist preacher. — My poor companions sold. — My agony. — Sent for again. — Interview with a kind Methodist preacher. — Visit free soil and begin my struggle for freedom, 55

CHAPTER VIII.

RETURN TO MARYLAND.

Reception from my old master. — A slave again. — Appeal to an old friend. — Buy my freedom. — Cheated and betrayed. — Back to Kentucky, and a slave again, 56

CHAPTER IX.

TAKEN SOUTH, AWAY FROM WIFE AND CHILDREN.

Start for New Orleans. — Study navigation on the Mississippi. — The captain struck blind. — Find some of my old companions. — The lower depths, 79

CHAPTER X.

A TERRIBLE TEMPTATION.

Sigh for death. — A murder in my heart. — The axe raised. — Conscience speaks and I am saved. — God be praised! 86

CHAPTER XI.

PROVIDENTIAL DELIVERANCE.

Offered for sale. — Examined by purchasers. — Plead with my young master in vain. — Man's extremity, God's opportunity. — Good for evil. — Return North. — My increased value. — Resolve to be a slave no longer, 93

CHAPTER XII.

ESCAPE FROM BONDAGE.

Solitary Musings. — Preparations for flight. — A long good-night to master. — A dark night on the river. — Night journeys in Indiana. — On the brink of starvation. — A kind woman. — A new style of drinking cup. — Reach Cincinnati, 102

CHAPTER XIII.

JOURNEY TO CANADA.

Good Samaritans. — Alone in the wilderness. — Meet some Indians. — Reach Sandusky. — Another friend. — All aboard. — Buffalo. — A "free nigger." — Frenzy of joy on reaching Canada, 113

CHAPTER XIV.

NEW SCENES AND A NEW HOME.

A poor man in a strange land. — Begin to acquire property. — Resume preaching. — Boys go to school. — What gave me a desire to learn to read. — A day of prayer in the woods, 128

CHAPTER XV.

LIFE IN CANADA.

Condition of the blacks in Canada. — A tour of exploration. — Appeal to the Legislature. — Improvements, 138

CHAPTER XVI.

CONDUCTING SLAVES TO CANADA.

Sympathy for the slaves. — James Lightfoot. — My first mission to the South. — A Kentucky company of fugitives. — Safe at home, 144

CHAPTER XVII.

SECOND JOURNEY ON THE UNDERGROUND RAILROAD.

- A shower of stars. — Kentuckians. — A stratagem. — A providence. — Conducted across the Miami River by a cow. — Arrival at Cincinnati. — One of the party taken ill. — We leave him to die. — Meet a "friend." — A poor white man. — A strange impression. — Once more in Canada, 150

CHAPTER XVIII.

HOME AT DAWN.

- Condition in Canada. — Efforts in behalf of my people. — Rev. Mr. Wilson. — A convention of blacks. — Manual-labor school, 165

CHAPTER XIX.

LUMBERING OPERATIONS.

- Industrial project. — Find some able friends in Boston. — Procure funds and construct a saw-mill. — Sales of lumber in Boston. — Incident in the Custom House, 173

CHAPTER XX.

VISIT TO ENGLAND.

- Debt on the institution. — A new pecuniary enterprise. — Letters of recommendation to England. — Personal difficulties. — Called an impostor. — Triumphant victory over these troubles, 179

CHAPTER XXI.

THE WORLD'S FAIR IN LONDON.

- My contribution to the great exhibition. — Difficulty with the American superintendent. — Happy release. — The great crowd. — A call from the Queen. — Medal awarded to me, 187

CHAPTER XXII.

VISITS TO THE RAGGED SCHOOLS.

Speech at Sunday School Anniversary. — Interview with Lord Grey. — Interview with the Archbishop of Canterbury, and dinner with Lord John Russell, the great events of my life, 194

CHAPTER XXIII.

CLOSING UP MY LONDON AGENCY.

My narrative published. — Letter from home apprising me of the sickness of my wife. — Departure from London. — Arrival at home. — Meeting with my family. — The great sorrow of my life, the death of my wife, . . . 203

CHAPTER XXIV.

CLOSING CHAPTER.

Containing an accurate account of the past and present condition of the fugitive slaves in Canada, with some remarks on their future prospects, 209