

TABLE OF CONTENTS

SECTION I:

VET TEACHER EDUCATION

Defining Professional Skills from Teachers'
Life Stories – p. 23

Hamid Asghari

Maintaining VETness in a Scholarly Environment: Voices from Exploration of Australian VET Teachers Including Researching as Part of Their Professional Practice – p. 60

Lewis Hughes

Individual-Oriented Curricula – A Challenge for Teachers at Vocational Schools in Germany – p. 90

Nicole Naeve-Stoss

SECTION II:

VET SKILLS, QUALIFICATIONS AND QUALITY

Why are Transversal Skills Needed in Professional Higher Education in the Future? – p. 119

Annica Isacson

The Organising Framework of Occupations:
Is There Common Language for Occupations Between
Educators and Employers? – p. 136

Naomi Alphonsus

Quality and Quality Assurance in Higher Vocational Education in Sweden – p. 165

Staffan Bolin

SECTION III:

RESEARCH ON LANGUAGE AND SIMULATIONS

Ups and Downs of Lifelong Language Learning in “UNICO” TEMPUS Project – p. 183

Valentina Kononova

Professional German Language Competences:
Demands and Strategies of Promotion in Training
Preparation Modules – p. 208

Nicole Kimmelman & Nina-Madeleine Peitz

Simulation-Based Teaching and Learning in the Social and Health Care Programs: A Literature Study – p. 236

Vibe Aarkrog

SECTION IV:

GENDER, SOCIAL COMPETENCE AND INCLUSION

Educational Pathways and Gender Segregation:
The Case of Upper Secondary VET – p. 257

*Francesca Salvà-Mut, Antoni Cerdà-Navarro
& Ana M. Calvo-Sastre*

Fostering Social Competence of Disadvantaged
Young People – p. 284

Kristina Kühn

A Case Study About the Innovative Approaches of a German Transplant in China: Make Up for Deficiencies in the Prevailing VET system – p. 318

Larissa Freund

SECTION V:

VET, APPRENTICESHIP AND ADULT LEARNING

Apprentices Social Integration in the Work-Group and Reflection as a Key Factor for a Successful Onboarding
and Development – p. 339

Christof Nägele & Patsawee Rodcharoen

Apprentices' Adaptation and Innovation Styles in Relation to Dimensions of Workplace Learning Environments – p. 370

Petri Nokelainen, Heta Rintala & Laura Pylväs

Adult Education and Vocational Training in Italy:
Outstanding Issues. – p. 389

Chiara Biasin

Re-Education Adults Through Work: Job Coach
Fostering Informal Learning – p. 414

Fernando Marhuenda

Upper Secondary VET in Sweden with Focus on Apprenticeship and Workplace-based Education – p. 440
Petros Gougoulakis & Lázaro Moreno Herrera

SECTION VI:

METHODOLOGICAL ISSUES, COMPANY RESEARCH
AND RESEARCH ON EMOTIONAL CAPITAL

‘Begleitforschung’ as Mediator Between Action-
Oriented Learning and Digital Change: On the Role of Accompanying Research and Training Schemes
in the Learning Layers Construction Pilot – p. 479
Pekka Kämäräinen

Emotional Capital, Educational Leadership and Enabling Teachers: Emotional Competencies
as Professional Competencies to Teach for Learning and Developing Potential – p. 516
Benedicte Gendron

Bridging Methodological Divides: Policies Studies and Empirical Work in Research in VET. – p. 531
Åsa Broberg, Lázaro Moreno Herrera & Jonas Gustavsson

SECTION VII:

VET SYSTEMS, TRANSITION AND CHALLENGES

Approaches of Recognizing and Assessing of Immigrants' Competence – p. 549

Johanna Lasonen

Changing Patterns of Transition to VET
and from VET to Higher Education: The On-Going Finnish VET Reform – p. 578

Maarit Virolainen

The Swedish system of VET – A German perspective – p. 607

Martin French & Franz Kaiser

VET and Newly Arrived Immigrants: Challenges of Recognition and Validation – p. 650

Marianne Teräs, Ali Osman & Johanna Lasonen