

CONTENTS

List of Figures	vii
Series Editor's Preface	ix
Acknowledgments	xi
Introduction: The "Spatio-Cultural Dimension": Overview and a Proposed Framework Bill Richardson	1
1 Space, Time, and the Articulation of a Place in the World: The Philosophical Context Felix Ó Murchadha	21
2 Symbol, Situatedness, and the Individuality of Literary Space Bill Richardson	41
3 Bridging Gaps; Building Bridges: Figures of Speech, Symbolic Expression, and Pedagogy Christiane Schönfeld and Ulf Strohmayr	59
4 Spatiality, Place, and Displacement in Two Gaelic Songs Lillis Ó Laoire	87
5 Lips in Language and Space: Imaginary Places in James Dawson's Australian Aborigines (1881) Paul Carter	105
6 The Space of Language and the Place of Literature Paolo Bartoloni	129
7 Dreaming Well-being into Being: Dualities of Virtual-Actual Communities Karen Le Rossignol	155

8	Between a Rock and No Place: Ursula Meier's Home (2008) Conn Holohan	177
9	Op Weg naar Broxeele : The Production of Shared Spaces Catherine Emerson	191
10	The Politics of Space: Poetical Dwelling and the Occupation of Poetry Miles Kennedy	209
	Conclusion: Mapping, Not the Map Bill Richardson	229
	Notes on Contributors	241
	Index	245