

CONTENTS

Acknowledgments	vii
1. Introduction	1
How the Frankfurt School Has Shaped the Study of Modern Antisemitism
2. From Odysseus to Postliberal Subjectivity	29
Revisiting Freud and the Civilizational Genesis of Social Domination
3. Loving to Hate	65
The Antidemocratic Syndrome and the Social Psychology of Modern Authoritarianism
4. Objectifying the Other	145
The Ideology of Antisemitism as False Projection
5. The Societal Origins of Modern Antisemitism	215
Judeophobia and Critical Social Theory after Marx and Weber
6. Power, Desolation, and the Failed Promise of Freedom	275
Rereading the “Elements of Antisemitism”
7. The Politics of Paranoia	321
From Totalitarian Antisemitism to Political Mobilizations of Judeophobia in Democracies
8. Guilt, Responsibility, and Post-Holocaust Democracy	359
Interpreting “Secondary” Antisemitism

9. Why Critical Theory Matters	391
Antisemitism, Authoritarian Politics, and Human Dignity in the Global Age
Notes	421
Bibliography	539
Index	571