

CONTENTS

	Page
ACKNOWLEDGMENTS	iv
ABSTRACT	vi
CHAPTER
1. INTRODUCTION	1
2. FROM STEPHEN TO BLOOM: BLUEPRINTS TOWARD THE UNCREATED POST-COLONIAL CONSCIOUSNESS OF A RACE	22
Introduction	22
Stephen's Uncreated Conscience and the English Language	25
Stephen's Nightmare--Haines/Deasy/The Librarians	28
Bloom Among the Nationalists	39
Stephen and Bloom--Confrontation and Possibility	47
Collision and Transformation--A Viable Hybridity?	53
3. OF BLOOD AND BELIEF: NARRATING INDEPENDENCE IN RUSHDIE'S MIDNIGHT'S CHILDREN	59
Introduction	59
Apex and Base	65
Of Blood and Belief	74
Nationalist Injunctions and British Inflections	78
The Empty Jar and Dispersal	82
4. NARRATING HISTORY'S LEGACY IN DEREK WALCOTT'S OMEROS	95
Introduction	95
Through Greek to African Babble: Achille and Philoctete	100
Doing Imperial Duty: Plunkett and Maud	116
"Art is History's Nostalgia": The Poet as Uneasy Pivot	128
Strange Fruit: Parallel Characters and Texts	138
5. CONCLUSION	146
BIBLIOGRAPHY	160