

Contents

1	The Double Debt: Economic and Environmental	1
	The Economic Crisis	1
	The Environmental Debt	2
	The Baumol Disease and the Funding of the State	4
	Co-benefits of Climate Change Mitigation	5
	Final Remarks	7
2	An Overview of What Global Health Is	9
	Economy and Health	10
	Converging Trends: The Quest for a Minimal State, Misconceptions on Science, Fragmented Research	11
	Political Crisis, Health Crisis	13
	Health in a Global World	14
	Three Exemplary Cases: Nauru, Greece and Bangladesh	15
	Obesity in Nauru: A Story of Early Globalisation	15
	Greece: The Health Effects of Economic Crisis	16
	The Case of Bangladesh	18
3	Food	21
	The Two Faces of Nutritional Problems	21
	The Global Food Industry	23

4	Climate Change	29
	The Fifth Report by the IPCC: The Effects on Health	29
	Climate Change and Communicable Diseases	31
	Causality and Climate Change	33
	Climate Change and Vulnerability	35
	Denialism	36
5	The Environment	39
	Aflatoxin	39
	Arsenic in Water and Other Environmental Exposures in Poor Countries	40
	Urban Sprawl, the Built Environment and Health	41
	The Microbiological Environment	43
6	The Economic Crisis	45
	The WHO, Smallpox and Polio	48
	Globalisation and Health: The Prospects	50
7	Cancer: A Time Bomb in Poor Countries	53
	Cancer as a Global and Preventable Problem	55
	The Agents that Cause Cancer and the Importance of Prevention	56
	The Global Epidemic of Diseases Linked to Tobacco	57
	Occupational Carcinogens	58
	Diet and Tumours	59
	Infectious Carcinogenic Agents	60
	Environmental Carcinogens	60
	Other Risk Factors: Socio-economic Status	61
	“Why Me?” Nature and Culture: The Role of Genetic Predisposition	62
	Primary Prevention of Tumours	63
	The Threats of Globalisation for the Primary Prevention of Cancer	64
	Final Remarks	65
8	The Epigenetic Landscape	67
	Diabetes, Birth Weight and Epigenetics	70
	Diet and Epigenetics	71
	Can Diet Stabilise the Genome?	72
	Globalisation and the Epigenetic Landscape	73

9	The Political Choices	75
	The End of Solidarity?	76
	The Precautionary Principle	78
	Environmental Sustainability	79
	On the Conflict of Interests	80
10	Public Health as a Common Good	85
	Madison Against Jefferson	86
	Mill and the “Harm Principle”	87
	Freedom of Choice, Freedom of Enterprise	88
	Climate Change and Public Ethics	90
	Conclusions	91
	To Know More	95
	Bibliography	97
	Index	105