

CONTENTS

1	Introduction	1
	1 Deconstructing and Reconstructing Paine	2
	2 Paine's First Republican Theory (1776–1787)	6
	3 Paine's Republican Theory and Practice of Language	9
	4 Paine's Second European Life Before Rights of Man (1787–1791)	11
	5 Rights of Man	13
	6 Paine's Contribution to the French Revolution	17
	7 Sources and Materials	21
	8 List of Paine's Writings Published or Written During His French Decade (Excluding Letters)	21
Part I	The Revolution of 1789 in Rights of Man: Republican or Democratic Revolution?
2	Debating the Legitimacy of the French Revolution	35
	1 The Origins of the Revolution of 1789 and the Ancien Regime	36
	1.1 The Crisis of the Hereditary Political and Social System	36
	1.2 Paine's Narrative of the Circulation of Ideas in Ancien Regime France	40
		vii

2	The Revolution of 1789	44
2.1	The Monarch and Aristocrats in 1789: An Open-Minded Political Elite vs Promoters of Despotism?	44
2.2	The Constitution of 1791: Paine as a One-Time Monarchist?	50
3	Narrating the French Revolution	65
1	The Story of the 'Republican' Revolution at Elite Level	69
2	The People's Revolution: The Storming of the Bastille and the October Days	73
3	Conclusion	81
Part II Paine and the Creation of the French Republic (May 1791–December 1793)
4	Paine and the Abolition of the French Monarchy	99
1	Varennes and Le Républicain	99
2	From Republican Writer to Representative	114
5	Paine in the Convention	133
1	Louis XVI's Trial: Representation vs Sovereignty	133
2	Paine and the First Constitutional Committee	148
6	Paine's First 'Girondin' Moment?	169
1	The Historiographic Construction of 'Girondism' and of a 'Girondin' Paine	169
2	Paine's Collaborations and Connections with 'Girondins'	178
3	Paine in the Partisan Context of 1792–1793	186
4	Conclusion	198
Part III Paine, Critic or Propagandist of the French Republic? (January 1794–September 1802)
7	Paine in the Aftermath of Thermidor (November 1794–August 1795)	221

1	Turning Over the Leaf of the Terror: Paine's Second Girondin Moment?	221
2	The Debate on the Post-Thermidorian Constitution	228
8	Paine in the Republic of the Year III (September 1795–November 1799)	253
1	The Domestic Policy of the Directoire	254
1.1	Agrarian Justice and the 18 Fructidor coup: Completing or Saving the French Revolution?	254
1.2	Order vs Equality: The Constitutional Circle or Paine's Third Girondin Moment?	265
2	The Directoire's Foreign Policy and Paine's Diplomacy	269
2.1	England and Ireland as Potential Sister Republics	270
2.2	The United States as an Ungrateful Sister Republic	274
9	Bonaparte's France and the End of the Revolution	293
1	Conclusion	304
 Part IV Conclusion
10	Conclusion	311
Index		317