

Contents

List of abbreviations	x
Introduction	1
1 The legalization of business responsibilities for human rights in the evolving field of CSR and business and human rights	13
2 The UN Guiding Principles on business and human rights: principled pragmatism and polycentric governance	45
3 The evolution of the corporate responsibility to respect human rights: from a soft into a hard obligation for companies under national and international law?	64
4 Human rights due diligence as a legal concept: its characteristics and reformatory potential	102
5 The EU's contribution to the implementation of CSR and the corporate responsibility to respect human rights: critical reflections on the European Commission's Strategy on CSR	135
6 The role of mandatory disclosure in operationalizing human rights due diligence: the case of the EU Directive on non-financial disclosure and board diversity	163
Conclusion	195
Index	199