ANALYTICAL TABLE OF CONTENTS

Acknowledgments 13

Preface 15

PART I THEORETICAL APPROACHES

1. Theories of Urbanization 21

A. The Study of the City in History 21

B. The Classical Sociological and Historical Studies of Cities: Cities and Origins of Civilization 24

1. Introduction 24
2. Origins of Cities and the Evolution of Civilization 25
3. Criticism of the Evolutionary Approaches 26
4. Alternative Theories 27

C. The Sociological Analysis of Urban Trait Complexes 28

1. The Ideal-Type Approach 28
2. Criticism of the Dichotomous and Trait Complex Approaches 29

D. The Dimensions of Urban Autonomy 31

E. The Internal Structure of Cities 32

1. Criticism of the Prevalent Approaches 34
2. Symbolic Approach to the Study of the Internal Structure of Cities 34
3. Basic Components of the Internal Structure of Cities 36

F. Urban Systems 39

1. City-Size Distributon of Urban Systems 39
2. Urban Hierarchies 40
3. Developmental Models of Urban Systems 42
4. Criticism of the Foregoing Theories 44
5. Basic Components of Urban Systems 48

G. The Impact of Sociological Analysis: Toward a New Approach 49

1. Major Sociological Controversies 49

2. New Sociological Approaches 52
3. New Directions of Research on Cities and Urbanization 54

2. Cities and Urban Systems: Toward a New Comparative Civilizational Approach 61

A. Assumptions of the New Approach 61
B. The Shaping of Institutional Structures 62
C. Modes of Control Over Resources 63
D. Protest, Conflict, and Change 64
E. Construction of Boundaries of Social Systems 67
F. Spatial Concentration and Creativity of Cities 68
G. Concentration and Centrality 69
H. Urban Patterns Generated by Concentration and Centrality 71
I. The Scope of This Work 74

PART II CASE STUDIES

3. Urbanization in Southeast Asia 79
A. Major Historical Stages in the Development of Southeast Asia 79
1. The Formative Period: Transformation from Tribes to City-States and Kingdoms 79
2. Transition to the Classical Period 81
3. Predominance of Theravada Buddhism and the Spread of the Thai People 82
B. Basic Characteristics and Transformations of Southeast Asian Patrimonial Societies 83
C. Urban Development in Southeast Asian Societies 85
1. The Formative Stage 85
2. Temple and Trade Cities 86
3. Structure of Urban Systems 87
4. Processes of Urbanization in the Classical Period 89
D. Internal Structure of Cities 90
1. Temple and Capital Cities 90
2. Coastal Cities 92
3. Impact of Theravada Buddhism on City Structure 93
4. Chinese Influence—Vietnam 94

4. Urbanization in Colonial Latin America 97
A. General Background 97
B. Stages of Urbanization in Latin America 99
C. Patrimonial-Bureaucratic Regimes in Latin America 100
D. Cities and Urban Systems in the Patrimonial Framework 102
1. The Location of Cities 102
2. Role of the Church in the Establishment of Cities 103

3. Mercantile Economic Policies and Their Effects on Urban Development 105
4. Urban Systems 107
E. Internal Structure of Cities 108
1. Bureaucratic-Patrimonial Town Planning 108
2. The Grid Pattern and Physical Layout of Cities 110
F. Social Organization 112
G. Spatial Organization of the Urban Population 116
H. Urban Autonomy 117

5. Urbanization in the Chinese Empire 123
A. Historical and Geographical Background 123
B. The Chinese Sociopolitical System 124
1. Basic Premises 124
2. Literati and Bureaucracy 125
3. Control Mechanisms and System of Stratification 126
4. Structure of Social Hierarchies 127
C. The Agricultural Economic Basis 128
D. The Urbanization Process 129
1. Basic Components of the Urbanization Process 129
2. The Hsien Capitals 130
E. Political-Administrative and Economic Urban Systems 131
1. Introduction 131
2. The Capital City 132
3. "Gate" and "Heart" Functions 133
F. Capital Cities as Centers of Administrative and Economic Control 134
G. The Administrative Urban System 135
H. Relation Between Administrative and Economic Urban Systems 136
I. Internal Structure of Cities 139
J. Urban Autonomy 142
1. Urban Administration 142
2. Merchant Guilds 143

6. Urbanization in the Russian Empire 147
A. Introduction 147
B. Historical Background 148
1. Pre-Kievan and Kievan Periods 148
2. Mongol Invasions 149
3. Ascent of Moscow and Establishment of the Russian Empire 150
C. Russian Imperial System 152
D. Process of Urbanization 154
1. Major Features of Russian Urbanization 154
2. The Service City: Limits of Urban Autonomy 156

E. Urban Social Structure 157
F. Internal Structure of Cities 160
1. Basic Components of Russian Cities 160
2. Ecological Differentiation 162
G. Attempts at Urban Reform 163
1. The Law Code (Ulozhenie) of 1649 163
2. Urban Reforms of Peter the Great 165
3. Reforms of Catherine the Second 168
4. 19th-Century Urban Reforms 170

7. Urbanization in the Byzantine Empire 173
A. Historical Background and Major Premises of the Byzantine Empire 173
B. Forces of Centrality in the Byzantine Empire 175
C. Major Social Groups in the Byzantine Empire 177
D. Center and Social Groups in the Byzantine Empire: Contradictions of the Imperial System 179
E. Basic Parameters of Byzantine Political and Social History: Impact on the Development of Urban Systems 180
1. Introduction 180
2. The Urban Network of Economic Centers 181
3. Changes in the Administrative Structure of the Empire and Their Impact on the Urban System 184
4. The Ecclesiastic Network 185
5. The Military Network 187
6. Some Comparative Indications 188
F. Constantinople—The Imperial City 189
1. The Creation of an Imperial City 189
2. Conception of Cosmos and Empire and the Internal Structure of Constantinople 190
3. Social Differentiation and Guilds 194
G. From Constantinople to Istanbul 196

8. Urbanization in the Early Periods of Islam 201
A. The Urban Legacy of the Pre-Islamic Period: The City Under Byzantine and Sassanian Rule 201
B. Emergence of the Islamic City 203
C. The Ideological Importance of the City in Islam 204
D. Basic Institutional Premises: The Nature of Islamic Society 205
E. Structure of Markets and Control 207
F. Urban Systems 209
G. Patterns of Urban Growth: Villes Créées and Villes Spontanées 210
H. Social and Institutional Structure of the Islamic City 212
I. Background 212

2. Religious Institutions: The Ulema and the Schools of Law 212
I. Internal Structure of Cities 213
1. Basic Components of Islamic Cities 213
2. Irregular Street Plan 216
J. Urban Autonomy 217

9. Urbanization in India 221
A. Historical Background 221
B. Major Characteristics of Indian Civilization 223
C. Major Periods in the History of India 225
1. The Mauryas—First Period of Centralization 225
2. Scythian and Sassanian Invasions—The Gupta Empire 227
3. Tribal Invasions and Periods of Decentralization—The Rajputs 228
4. Muslim Invasion—Centralization Under the Delhi Sultanate 228
5. The Moghul Empire 229
D. Cities and Urban Systems in India 230
1. Introduction 230
2. Religious Urban Centers 232
3. Major Components of the Indian Urban Systems 234
E. Comparative Historical Indications: Cities and Urban Systems Among the Rajputs, Colas, and Moghuls 235
1. The Rajput Period 235
2. The Cola Period 237
3. The Moghul Period 238

10. Urbanization in Japan 241
A. Historical Background 241
1. The Tokugawa Regime 242
B. Mode of Decentralization: Family and Group Identity 243
C. Cultural Orientations 245
D. The Group Model and Modes of Conflict Regulation 246
E. Elite Structure and System of Control 248
F. The Political System, Structuring Social Hierarchies, and Mode of Absorption of External Influences 249
G. Structure of Forces of Centrality and Concentration and Pattern of Settlement and Urbanization in Japan 252
1. Introduction 252
2. Ancient Urbanization: Kofun and Early Yamato Periods 253
3. First Imperial Urbanization (7th-11th Centuries)—Taika Reform 254
4. Urbanization in the Feudal Period (12th-16th Centuries) 256
5. Castle Towns 258
6. Urbanization in the Tokugawa Period (17th-19th Centuries) 259

H. Urban Autonomy 262
I. Guilds 263
J. Urban Systems 266
K. Internal Structure of Cities 269

11. Urbanization in Medieval Europe 277
A. Introduction: Political and Cultural Orientations 277
B. Process of Medieval Urbanization 279
C. Urban Systems 281
D. Internal Structure of Cities 286
E. The Town Center and Its Components 288
F. Social Organization of Cities 291
G. Urban Institutions and Autonomy 293
H. External Political Autonomy 294
I. Cultural Role of European Cities 295
J. Urban Identity 297
K. Urban Autonomy, Identity, and Conflicts 298

PART III ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSIONS

12. Distinctiveness of Cities and Urban Systems 301
A. The Basic Variables 301
1. Introduction 301
2. Technologies and Economic Structures 302
3. Structure of Elites and Modes of Control 308
B. Distinctiveness of Urban Social Structure 311
C. Internal Structure of Cities 317
D. Urban Autonomy—Internal Autonomy of Cities—Patterns of Regulation and Self-Regulation, and Social Conflicts 322
E. Urban Autonomy—External Political Autonomy 326
F. Urban Identity 329
G. Moral Evaluation of Cities 333
H. Urban Systems and Hierarchies 335

13. Patterns of Cities and Urban Systems and the Institutional Creativity of Cities 343
A. Patrimonial Regimes 344
B. Imperial and Decentralized Regimes 347
C. The Institutional Creativity of Cities 353

Epilogue 357

References 363

Index 383

About the Authors 391