

Figure	page xiii
List of Boxes	xiv
Preface	xvii
Acknowledgements	xxi
List of Abbreviations	xxii
1 Introduction: IOs as Problem Solvers	1
Introduction	1
The Historical Evolution of Multilateralism	2
Why IOs Are Important	6
Examining International Organisations	9
Chapter Summary	10
Guiding Questions	11
Further References	11
2 Using Theory to Evaluate IOs as Problem Solvers	13
Introduction	13
Emergence of Liberal and Functionalist Approaches	14
International Relations Theories on International Cooperation	18
IO-Specific Theories	26
Chapter Summary	31
Questions for Evaluating the Impact of IOs	32
Guiding Questions	33
Further References	33
3 Minimising and Halting Conflict	36
Introduction	36
The Mandate, Function and Structure of the UN and Regional Security Organisations	37
The Problem: The Changing Nature of Weapons and Conflict	50
Explaining Peace and Security IOs' Behaviour	54
Competition over Minimising and Halting Conflict: NGOs and Private Military Companies	57

Chapter Summary	59
Guiding Questions	60
Further References	60
4 Protecting Human Rights	62
Introduction	62
The Mandate, Function and Structure of the United Nations
Human Rights Council, the OHCHR and International Courts	63
The Problem: Promoting, Protecting and Expanding Human Rights
Internationally	74
Explaining Human Rights IOs' Behaviour	76
Competition over Providing Human Rights: NGOs	81
Chapter Summary	84
Guiding Questions	84
Further References	85
5 Providing Global Health	86
Introduction	86
The Mandate, Function and Structure of the WHO, UNICEF
and UNAIDS	87
The Problem: Health for All, the Global Spread of Communicable
Diseases and Bioterrorism	94
Explanations of Health IOs' Behaviour	97
Competition over Providing Global Health: Philanthropists,
Hybrid IOs and Activists	103
Chapter Summary	106
Guiding Questions	106
Further References	107
6 Providing Financial Governance	108
Introduction	108
The Mandate, Function and Structure of International
Finance IOs	109
The Problem: From Balance of Payments to Systemic Financial
Instability	122
Explaining Financial IOs' Behaviour	125
Competitors in Global Financial Governance: Corporations and
Transnational Regulatory Networks	128
Chapter Summary	130

Guiding Questions	130
Further References	130
7 Promoting International Trade	132
Introduction	132
Informal Multilateralism of the GATT and the Mandate, Function and Structure of the WTO	133
The Problem: Expanding and Deepening Trade Liberalisation	144
Explaining the WTO's Behaviour	146
Competition over Freeing International Trade? Overlapping Preferential Trade Agreements	150
Chapter Summary	152
Guiding Questions	152
Further References	152
8 Creating Regional IOs	154
Introduction	154
The Mandate, Function and Structure of the EU, ASEAN and the OAS	155
The Problem: Aggregating Sovereignty to Advance States' Goals	168
Explaining Regional IOs' Behaviour	170
Competition for Advancing States' Goals: Bilateral, Plurilateral and Multilateral Agreements	174
Chapter Summary	175
Guiding Questions	176
Further References	176
9 Furthering Development	178
Introduction	178
The Mandate, Function and Structure of International Development IOs	179
The Problem: International Development as an Expanding Concept	190
Explaining Development IOs' Behaviour	193
Competition in Solving International Development Problems: The Private Sector, NGOs and Philanthropists	199
Chapter Summary	201
Guiding Questions	202
Further References	202

10	Protecting the Environment	204
	Introduction	204
	The Mandate, Function and Structure of the UNEP, GEF, CSD and MEA Secretariats	205
	The Problem: Worsening Global Environmental Conditions	216
	Explaining IOs' Behaviour in Addressing Environmental Problems	220
	Competition over Global Environmental Governance: ENGOS and Private and Hybrid Environmental Governance	222
	Chapter Summary	224
	Guiding Questions	224
	Further References	225
11	Conclusion: If Global Governance Is the Answer, What Is the Question?	227
	Introduction	227
	Evaluating IOs' Behaviour in International Relations	228
	The Problem: Multilateralism in Crisis?	231
	Problem Solving through Global Governance	233
	Chapter Summary	237
	Guiding Questions	238
	Further References	238
	Glossary	240
	Bibliography	252
	Index	282