

FOREWORD

PROLOGUE Spatial research 24

The delta paradox 33

1 TIMELINE From the ice ages to the IJsselmeer 42

Cross-profiles and horizons 65

2 THE COASTLINE Where land and water meet 74

Space and place 89

3 THE BODY OF WATER The aesthetics of 'next to nothing' 98

Straight versus jagged 109

4 THE HINTERLAND A composite landscape 118

In praise of geometry 141

5 POINTS OF CONTACT Transverse lines and hydraulic works 150

Skylines and atmosphere 165

6 GOLDEN RULES Tips for spatial quality 174

The oldest map 189

7 TRENDS AND TASKS From utilitarian landscape to leisure landscape 198

Reading the metropolis 209

8 THE WATERLAND COAST A porous landscape where time stands still 218

Democratic Baroque 233

9 FLEVOLAND A metropolitan coastal landscape 242

Tourism and recreation 257

10 FRIESLAND The Wadden feeling on the mainland 266

Dancing dykes 277

11 THE HOUTRIBDIJK DAM The dyke as a filter 286

Crossing over, looking back 301

12 COMPOSITIONAL PRINCIPLES Force lines from Amsterdam to the Wadden Sea 310

Thinking-by-drawing 321

EPILOGUE A metropolitan breathing space 330

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS 338

List of photographs by Theo Baart 340

Notes 342

Literature 343

Sources of illustrations 346

Credits 347