

Table of Contents

Acknowledgments	ix
Preface	1
Part One. Theories, Choices and Contexts	7
1. Alice Meets Pinocchio : Parallel Readings, National Stereotypes and Cultural Associations	9
2. Books, Canons and Characters: Pinocchio in Wonderland and Alice in Tuscany	25
3. Carlo and Charles: Italy in the Age of Pinocchio , England in the Age of Alice	37
Part Two. Origins: Folktale, Fairy-Tale and Fantasy Traditions	59
4. Pinocchio as fiaba , Alice as Fairy-Tale: Folktale and Fairy-Tale Traditions	61
5. Fantasy and Form in Alice and Pinocchio	102
Part Three. New Journeys: Postmodernist Experiments with Alice and Pinocchio and Parallel Genre Readings in Empire Fictions	143
6. The Postmodernist Journeys of Alice and Pinocchio : Adventures in Transnational and Transtextual Identities	145

7. Childhood, School and Empire in Italy and the UK: Hughes and De Amicis, Henty and Salgari	167
Appendix: "Strange Meeting in Wonder-Tuscany" by Peter Hunt	195
Chapter Notes	199
Works Cited	203
Index	223