

Contents

Introduction: Love, Literature, (Post-)Modernity: On the Re-Emergence of Love in Contemporary German Literature Helmut Schmitz	1
--	---

Revisions of Romantic/Literary Traditions

Not So Happily Ever After: Romantic Love in Novels by Alain Claude Sulzer Esther K. Bauer	25
Love as Literature: Hanns-Josef Ortheil's Die große Liebe Helmut Schmitz	47

Variations on Love in the Contemporary

Healthy Socialists and Kinky Heroes: Carnavalesque Deconstruction of Heteronormativity in Thomas Brussig's Helden wie wir Sven Glawion	73
Disembodied Love and Desire: Virtual Love in Daniel Glattauer's Gut gegen Nordwind Angelika Vybiral	93
Thomas Mann in Furs: Remediations of Sadomasochism in Maxim Biller's Im Kopf von Bruno Schulz and Harlem Holocaust Maria Roca Lizarazu	113

Love and Cultures of Exclusion

Precarious Subjects, Vulnerable Love: Thomas Melle's 3000 Euro , Feridun Zaimoglu's Isabel and Julia Wolf's Alles ist jetzt Silke Horstkotte	135
---	-----

Love as Anathema: Social Constraints and the Demise of Desire in Fatih Akin's Gegen die Wand Sarra Kassem	155
Notes on the Contributors	175