

CONTENTS

Editors' Introduction	5
Preface	7
Acknowledgments	12
1. Assumptions of the Method	13
The Subject and the Biographical Method	13
Exemplars	14
Situating the Method	17
The Subject in the Text: An Aside	20
Standards of Autobiographical Truth	23
Recapitulation	25
2. A Clarification of Terms	27
Clarifying Terms	27
Lives, Persons, Selves, Experiences	28
Approaches to Autobiography, Life History, and Biography	34
Life Stories, Self Stories, and Personal Experience Stories	42
Writing, Différence, and Presence	44
Conclusions	47
3. Interpretive Guidelines	49
Objective, Natural History Approaches	49
The Classic Approach	50
Problems with the Classic, Objective Approach:
The Jack-Roller	52
Objective Hermeneutics and Biographical Narratives	54
Interpretive Strategies	56
Interpretive Formats	58
The Biographical Illusion	61
Making Experience Come Out Right	62
Group Storytelling	63
Making Sense of an Individual's Life I: Sartre and Flaubert	64

Making Sense of an Individual's Life II: Alcoholics	66
The Progressive-Regressive Method	67
Conclusions	68
4. Selves, Stories, and Experiences	69
Capturing and Studying Lived Experience	69
The Epiphany	70
Forms of the Epiphany	71
The Cultural Locus of Stories	73
Limits of the Story	74
Process, Structure, and Stories	75
True and False Stories?	75
The Self-Narrative	78
Obituaries	78
5. In Conclusion: Representing Lives	81
References	85
About the Author	95