

Contents

Preface	ix
Introduction	i
I. PRODUCTION, CONSUMPTION AND SURPLUS	13
1. The law of social reproduction	15
2. The circuit of production and consumption	19
3. The social relations of production	21
2. SURPLUS VALUE AND PROFIT	26
1. Commodity and value	26
2. The circuit of capital	30
3. The magnitude of value	33
4. Profit	39
5. Surplus value	44
6. Wages and the circuit of labour	47
7. Real wages and the value of wages	50
3. THE ACCUMULATION OF CAPITAL	56
1. The pursuit of pure quantity	56
2. Accumulation and money	60
3. Accumulation and simple commodity production	63
4. Commodity production and capitalist production	67
5. Accumulation and the socialisation of labour	72
6. Accumulation and the socialisation of capital	75
Note: Social capital and the transition to communism	82
4. PRODUCTIVE AND CIRCULATION CAPITAL	86
1. Unequal exchange	86
2. Circulation capital in capitalist society	89
3. Circulation capital in non-capitalist society	93
5. MERCHANT CAPITAL AND UNDERDEVELOPMENT	96
1. The transition to industrial capitalism	98

Development and Underdevelopment: A Marxist Analysis

2. British colonialism	105
3. The theory of unequal exchange	107
4. Merchant capital and the development of under- development	119
6. INDUSTRIAL CAPITAL AND UNDERDEVELOPMENT	125
1. Fixed and circulating capital	130
2. The effect of turnover on the rate of profit	137
3. Turnover and employment	145
4. Accumulation and employment	148
5. The formation of the proletariat	153
7. THE ACCELERATION OF CAPITAL	157
1. The intensification of labour	157
2. Fordism	167
8. CRISIS AND RECOMPOSITION	172
1. Crisis	172
2. Recomposition	178
3. Democracy and repression	184
List of Works Cited	188
Index	190